7 August Yangtze River Fourteen Pen.

Four weeks later he was drinking some beer at his prefered Tavern, when a man next to him at the bar said: "You look like a man of action. I know one when I see one."

– Yeah. And who are you?

– A guy in charge to recruit people for a long Safari towards the Black Mountains! Where there is cold and hard rocks, but also, where is a valley that nobody has seen before!" – The man said, with wrinkled eyes.

– Oh, yeah? And have you been there, mate?"

– Never! But I have seen photos! Someone flew over the valley and come back changed for ever!" – That man said, drinking from a bottle of Rhum.

– Photos! Well, and how much did they pay?" – Fermentum said.

– a lot of money is there for the one who dares! This valley have no land strip for a plane, but a helicopter could go there and land! My boss is recruiting a staff of mineralogists, botanicist and others, to go there and study possibilities of development! You see Mr. ROUTE N my boss, if young, would go there in person, but as he is old and full of infirmities, is paying others to explore. Later, he wants to build a hotel there."

— But who will go to rest near the Blue Mountains? It's thousands of kilometers away!" Fermentum exclaimed, seeing no economic gain so far from Fernin city...

The man chuckled and said: "You'll be surprised to know how many rich people pay to be carried far away with their mistresses to be free of prying eyes!"

— Well, that's figure! I have been an explorer before. If the wages are good, count me in."

— Very well. Here' my card of presentation. The man said; Fermentum reads: Arbiter Roberius, Manager." And an address..."

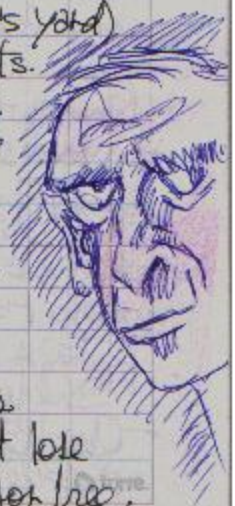
— I'll see if I can add you to the expedition. Give me your phone and I'll call you." — Arbiter asked. Fermentus gives it and said: "It was Destiny that puts you in my path."
— Destiny? Yes. It exist." — Arbiter said, Smiling in a relaxed way.

At the next day, Mr. Routen calls on him, saying:
— I see you are an able man. If I tell you to help me in a barbecue to-night, will you be able to attend?"
— Yes, boss. I'm expert in barbecues." — Fermentum said, smiling.
— Very Well. Be there (at the big house's yard) at 19 hours." — Routen said, and departs.



Fermentum puts on his best clothes and shoes, and appears at the place at thirteen hours sharp.

He saw some other employees working as bartenders or serving icecreams or beverages at the Tables. Many visitors were already there, and someone told him that those guests arrives before 17 hours, just to not lose any opportunity of to eat and drink for free.

Gustafson, Man in Charge of the Barbecue.

He arrives to the place where fire must start, and begin asking for charcoal, gasoline, matches, irons to put the meat, and more things... Gustafson, the guy in charge, heard his requests and said: "Go to the bungalow over there, and you'll find what you want."

"Fermentum went there, finding everything neatly disposed, ordered, and clean. A couple of guys appears at the door; one of them said: "Here we are! Mr. Gustafson told us we'll be helping with your work."

—Good! Take those bags with charcoal, and let's start." —Fermentum said.

He reminds there searching for gasoline, when a woman enters, saying:

—Where is Mr. Gustafson?"

Fermentum looked at her: she was dressed in a tight pants and a loose shirt; she was smiling.

—Oh, it's out there next to the trees, lady! But perhaps I could help you?"

She looked at him for a moment and said:

—Are you from the town? I always forget a face!" —She said

The Girl and the Guardrobe

-Hope I could not forget you!" - Fermentum replied. She smiled again and said: "Follow me! I need to move some furnitures!"
-Of course. Guide me, Miss." - Fermentum said, and followed.
At a bedroom, 2nd floor, he was moving a heavy 3 BODY Wardrobe.

Guardrobe

-Oh, it's heavy!" - She said, trying to help him.
-Don't worry! I can do it." - He said, but only with her help he could carry the heavy Behemoth to the other side of the room.
She laughed and lay on the bed, saying:
-Thanks you! Oh, it was real heavy!
-Call me anytime you want help, lady. My name is Fermentum."

At the next day, Fermentum went to work, and from the distance saw a helicopter taking off, and going away. Gustafson, who was coming from the big house, said: "And now we are alone! Mr Routen and his family are traveling to Shuloco City."
—Wow! A party and then a trip. A moved life is what he have." Fermentum commented.
—Of course—he always is traveling as he mix work with vacations." —Gustafson said.
—Yesterday I was moving a furniture at his house. I wonder who was the lady who asks me to do it."—Fermentum commented.
—I know you both! She is the landlady—Mr. Routen's wife." Gustafson said.
—Oh! I thought it was a maid." Fermentum said.
—Well, you know that rich people have a young woman at his side!" Eustafon said, ending with the conversation in order to work. In Fermentum's mind the figure of that woman was embedded deeply...

Five days later, Mr. Arbiter Roberius was drinking at the Tabern, and seeing Fermentum at the entrance, he called to his table, saying: "Hey, young man! Come to take about that trip."

Fermentum seats, recognizing promises given by that man, and said: "Hello, sir! Nice to meet you."

The waitress approaches to hear what Fermentum was willing to drink, and said: "What do you want to drink, young fellow?"

— A cask of beer, please." Fermentum said.

When the waitress went to fetch what was requered, Mr. Arbiter Roberius said: "That woman did looks healthy!"

— Yes, work and good payments do that to a woman."

Arbiter Roberius

Fermentius replied.
— And are you well paid?" —
Mr. Roberius asked.
— Not quite.
— Well". My boss accepts you on the payrol! So you'll be presenting at the airport in 3 more days.
— And the wages are?
— 650.000 Sopes per month. But I cannot assure you for how long you'll be hired! Could be one, two or more months!" —
Mr. Arbiter Roberius said, looking at his reaction.
— Very well! I'll be there at any hour you tell me." —
Fermentius said, looking at the handsome waitresses.

After several drinks more, Mr. Roberius left leaves the tabern. Fermentius was about to leave (after drinking his 3th beer cask) when a man puts a hand on his arm, saying: "Beware of that man!"

Fermentines stared at the man, seeing the same old man seated at the next table, and asked: "Why, buddy? Do you know him, per chance?"

The guy asks for another drink and said: "How could I don't know him? 15 years ago we were partners! We rented ships at Cairo town, fishing boats and went to the sea! Money pours in, everyone happy, and 4 years later I awoke without a coin: he takes all our money from the Banks, sold whatever ship we had and run away!"
— But, were you not legally working? how yers could have taken what was yours and puts him in jail!" Fermentus said, not believing a word that man was saying...
— Sorry there, pal! I was married with a witch and at that time I was splitting so not to give her half of my investments, I play dirty and told Arbiter to run the Shops under his name! So there." — That man said.

"Dingor"

Fermentum believes the one who cheats, ends being cheated.

– Sorry, but I'll take Mr. Arbiter's offer! In here, small money and lots of work. – Fermentum said. The guy looked at him with disappointment and said: "Sorry for you, mate! Have your own way." – And leaved the Tabern. The nice stewardess approaches the table, takes the empty glasses and said: "Don't pay much attention what Mr. Dingor said. He's rather crazy about someone who makes him bad. – – Yeah, beauty. Could you accept me an invitation to dinner after hours?"

She smiled, takes a second look at him and said: "Let me think about it." – And went away.

Fermentum talked out, being sure that phrase was indeed a polite repulse...

At the third day, Fermentum was aboard a taxi with a suitcase. At home he left all of his money on the hands of Miss Dilata her mother, saying: "Here, mother! I'll leave for a trip! Hope I could come back with a lot of money!"

opening his eyes he went there to see what was happening; but it was no quarrel among the pilots but they were excited looking out the wind-shield: a dark figure was now at the fringe of the north side of the clearing, and Fermentus recognizes the ~~figu~~ specimen in view: an Allosaurus...

"Start the engine! That creature will smash everything ~~queer~~ in view!" the copilot was saying, while the pilot was starting the engine...

Lazily at first, the blades begin to spin; that causes the enormous beast to move...

"He's coming!" The pilot said, in sheer terror...

Fermentus realize the beast will catch out with the helicopter before it could leaves the ground! He takes his backpack and jumped out of the aerial vehicle. From a distance of 100 meters he saw the beast trying to grip the blades, that cuts his arms as butter, but also, bends and become useless to fly...

Spinosaurus Aegyptiacus

The enraged beast stomped on the machine, smashing its contents and in a lapse of 10 minutes reduced the helicopter transformed in a thin layer of metal... oozing some red blood, last remains of the 2 pilots.

In all fours, Fermentus was now creeping under the tall grass where he soon finds 3 of the explorers, lying flat on the ground.

"Hey! The beast smashed the helicopter! We're marooned!" Fermentus said.

—No need to tell us now, Eddy buddy! We have 2 pair of eyes!" — a man growled...

The Spinosaurus Aegyptiacus was still trying to eat more humans; Fermentus was enraged to see no body was prepared to fight the dino. Sadly, nobody have any weapon to fire at the animal...

He reaches the forest, where he was sensing a feeling of safeness...

Hours later, the remnant of humans were seated around a big fire, set aside a circle of stones. The smell of burned wood makes the Spinosaurus Aegyptiacus leaves the surroundings.

-We are around 300 kilometers away from our destination point." Pilot Senbieder said.

-Yes, no way we could return to Forwin city." Copilot Retschu commented.

In the following days they marched through the forest but finding they way blocked by high mountains, they retreat to the forest where they were starving. Fermeatum realize the men were highly nervous and quarrelsome, so he decides to depart alone in a trek of 3.500 kilometers.

Pilot Tenlieder

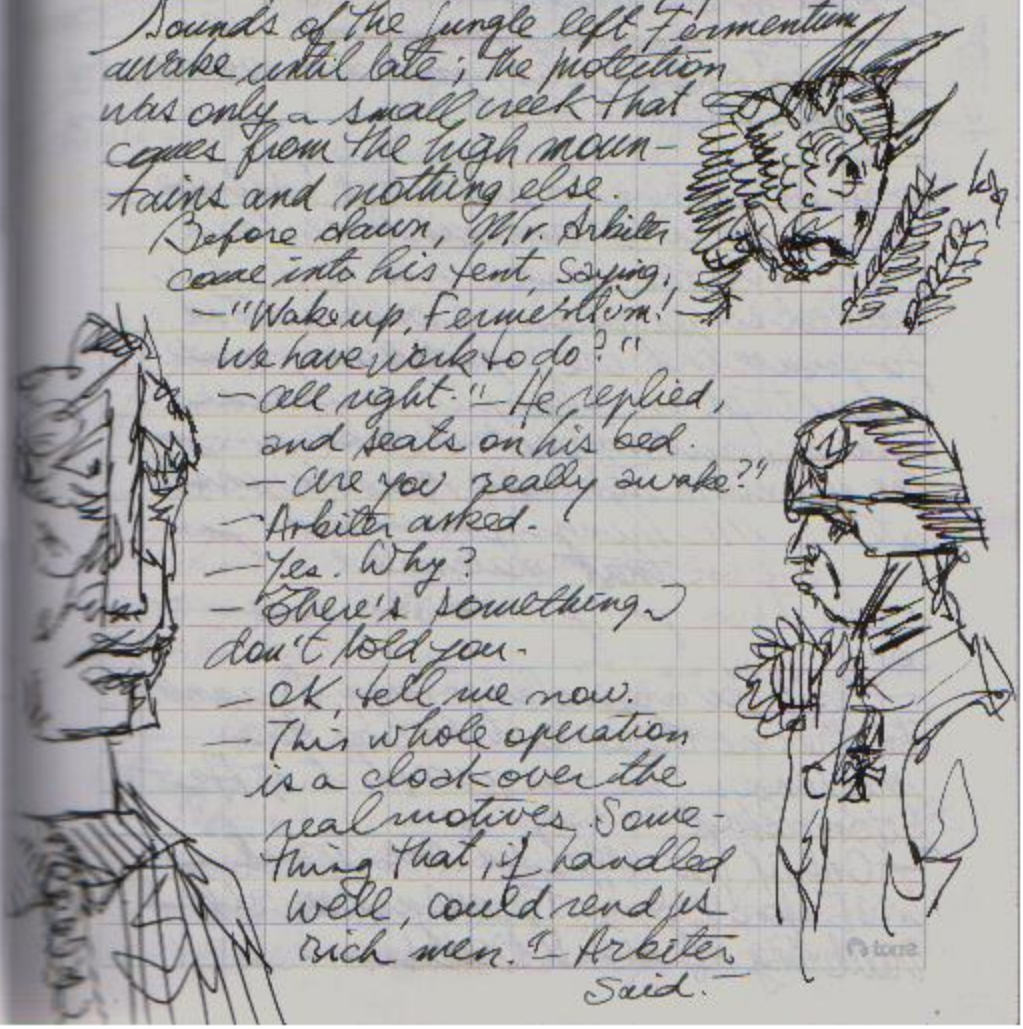
But it was not necessary: a helicopter appears in the sky at mid afternoon, and landed in a stretch of land free of trees.
— We saw the crashed helicopter in our trip to camp base! What happens?" One of the crew asked.
— We landed to refuel but a dino saur attacks us!" Pilot — said.
— Oh! We saw a spinosaurus roaming this sector! Must be the same! Climb now! It's better." The man urged, and soon they were in the air.

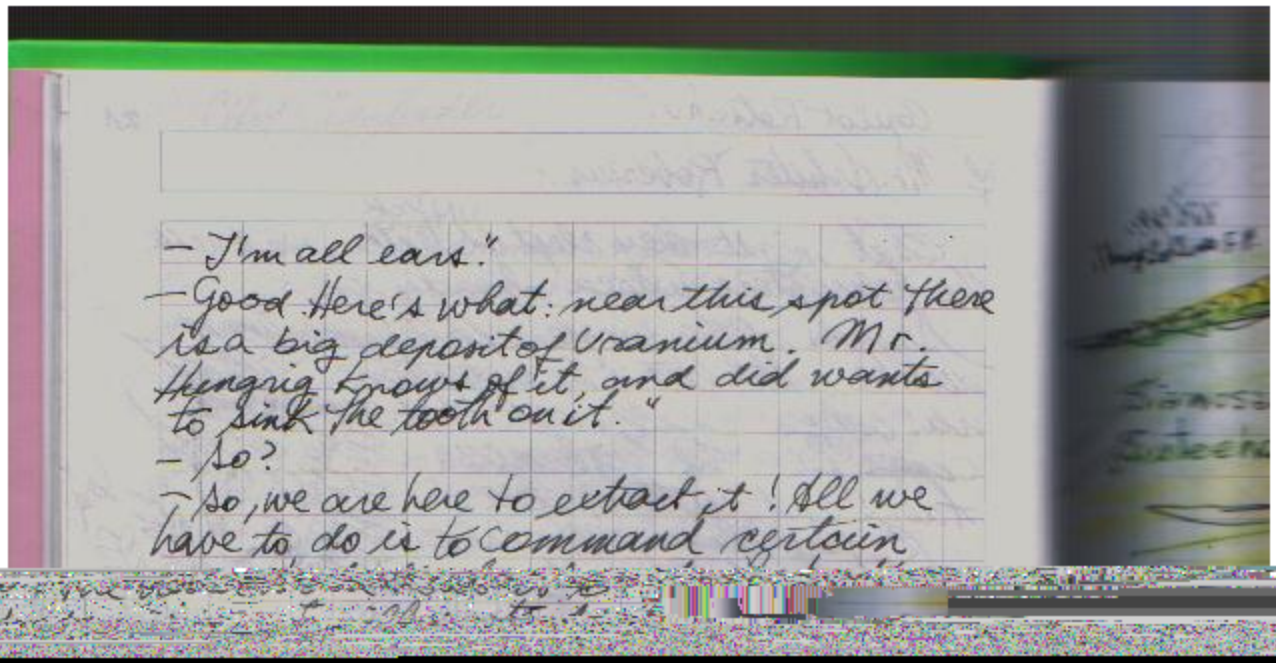
At camp base, they saw another helicopter on the ground, and Mr. Arbiter Roberius approaches saying:
— "What happens with you, boys?
— Sorry to say we were attacked by a dinosaur while refueling! We lost 4 men!" Pilot Tenlieder said.
— Bad thing! Pity on them!" — Mr. Arbiter Roberius said, asking for names.

Copilot Rotschu.
Chief Mr. Arbiter Roberius.-

That night they slept UNDER tenter, and with the helicopters Alrea already gone.- Sounds of the jungle left Fermentum awake until late; the protection was only a small creek that comes from the high mountains and nothing else.

Before dawn, Mr. Arbiter came into his tent saying,
—"Wake up, Fermentum! We have work to do!"
—all right."— He replied, and seats on his bed.
—are you really awake?"
—Arbiter asked.
—Yes. Why?
—There's something I don't told you.
—OK, tell me now.
—This whole operation is a clock over the real motives. Something that, if handled well, could rend us rich men.— Arbiter said.





– I'm all ears."
– Good. Here's what: near this spot there is a big deposit of Uranium. Mr. Hungrig knows of it, and did wants to sink the tooth on it."
– So?
– So, we are here to extract it! All we have to do is to command certain

He count his bullets and decided not to waste any more shoutings on the creatures; for that purpose he just wait for them to go away - while the Coelophysis keeps on gnawing on the Container, with nil success...!

By the windows he could spot the E. Men still working as ussual, delivering minerals on boxes, ready to send to Fonwin City by helicopters...

Three days later, the little beasts departs; that night no scratching, no gnawing and Fermentum slept as never before, in peace and absolute silence...

At the next day he revise the works at

Yangtze The War against the Coelophysis

The mine, finding several mishaps that were fixed in the next 3 days; he also uses 2 E Men as bodyguards, not to depend only on the shotgun.

2 days after that the Coelophysis returns and Fermentum send the 2 E-men two fight against the creatures. They ripped several creatures until the rest went away; the "skin" of the 2 bodyguards were scratched, but the metallic structure does not receive any damage.

- Guess they will never come back." Fermentum said to himself, but he was Wrong, as the Coelophysis did return each 3 days. This time Fermentum have 3 E-men for the job so the Coelophysis lost 7 members of the pack, and the remains were burned by Fermentum, not to inhale the evil fumes.

Days later only 3 old Coelophysis attacked the Cabin, but they die at the hands of the 3 E Men; Fermentum was delighted and burned the 3 animals in a big fire.

They leave the mine.

When the waiting for the return of Mr. Arbiter ends, no helicopter arrives. Fermentum waits for another week, and nobody come. As he was already short on food, he decides to leave camp and walks back to the city - no matter the costs.

He calls to stop every work at the mine, and orders to the E-Men to just in line in front of his cabin, and from the threseld he said: "No more works in here. From now on we will walk towards Forwin city; nobody will walk away or stay behind. I'll walk in the center of a rectangle, you at the periphery."

After that, he gives the bag with food and the canteens with water to them to be carried, and begin walking; the obedient serfs keeps at his pace, in a perfect rectangle - this, to be protected from beasts -

Four days later, he was resting at a tent, with the E-men starting fires around it, to be protected from the beasts during the night. Their figures, clad on overalls, resembles a group of men in exploration.—

When at the jungle, Fermentum sent the E-men to search for fruits in the morning - when supposedly the meat-eaters were sleeping after a night of carnage and cruelty. This method was successful only for 13 days, as a pair of E Men was attacked by an Allosaurus and maimed beyond recognition. That leaves him with [only E-Men.] more precautions taken; he only sent them when out of provisions, so they were in less danger.

In times, he asks them to be carried by the armpits, to fasten pace and also rest - his boots weren't as new as before.

Then, an E-man approaches and said: "There is a man made vehicle half buried in the ground."

Fermentum smiled, and didn't believe it until he saw a half sphere of metal sticking out of the ground.

"The vehicle in the Jungle."

Yongtze.

He said: "let's try to find the entrance! Dig."

And the 8-men used sticks and branches until half of the structure was out to see: a door was half open, so they keep on cleaning until one of them gets into the interior, and 10 minutes later he reapeared saying: "there's no danger in there,!"

Fermentum enters the place using a lamp light and his forehead wrinkled in a puzzled frown. The arrangement was the queerest he had ever seen. There was no indication of a single lever or instrument that could control the motion of the strange ship. Whatever driving mechanism the vessel had was hidden beyond those walls.

He went outside, half choffed cho choked choked with the stale air that was inside the vessel. He decides he could do nothing to solve a puzzle by staying close, so he ordered the 8-men to keep on going...

several weeks later, he arrives to Forzin city and to his parent's home... with the 18 8-men at his wake...

03:27 The arrival home.

O —But, who are these people,, so strange?!"— Miss Disata asked, very alarmed.
—There are workers, mum! They will be no problem! They don't eat!"— Fermentum said.
— They are robots, darling!"— Mr Corvinus explains — And you! How filthy are you! Go and take a shower!"— Miss Disata ordered, sniffing in distaste.. — Fermentum lodged the group at his bedroom, saying: Save energy! Disconect all non essential routines!" And they obeyed, standing next to the walls as statues devoid of any movement.
—They must be costly! What happens with your job?"— Mr. Corvinus asked, when Fermentum, with clean clothes and seated at the table, smiled meekly.
—I was working at a mine in a mountain, to the north west of here. But they left me alone with these Artificial Intelligent Beings."
—So you quit?

- Not exactly! Each week a team in a helicopter arrives there and gives me food, water, supplies, and we give them the cargo." — Fermentum said.

Miss Disata arrives with a soup with potatoes and coelophysis meat, saying: "Eat! You look thin!"

— And what happens next? - Mr Corvinus asked.

— They didn't appear any more! I waited for a month!" - Fermentum replied. - — They wanted you dead! Mm! There's a motive involved... money! Did they pay you?" - Mr. Corvinus asked — Not a coin!" - Fermentum said.

— Never? - asked his father.

— Only promises! The last time I see my chief, I told him I need rest - to return here and be paid!" - Mr. Fermentum said.

— And what did he said?" — Corvinus asked

— He said OK but wait for 3 more weeks! And added that 32 million sopes would be waiting for me at the end!" - Fermentum said.

ending his soup - Miss Disata appears with a steaming plate, covered big chunk of meat was surrounded by cheese spaghetis, herbs and beans...
"Here! You must eat... Are you sure those machines don't eat something?"
- Nothing at all! Don't you worry about them! - Fermentum replied
- But, what are you doing with them? They didn't belong to you!" - Miss Disata mentioned.
- They owe him money: if they don't pay him, he must keep those robots until they did." - Mr. Corvinus said, with brighting eyes.
- Perhaps I could sue them! - Fermentum asked...
- But not to day! Now you must rest! But also, with all those machines around your bed!" - Miss Disata said, moving her head...

Mr. Roberius.

Fermentum went home and sats in his bed thinking: now he was out of job and penniless. A week to wait was too much for him, so he decides to roam the city at all hours - like it was a job. With that idea he gets asleep...

At the next morning, Fermentum walked around places where money runt from hand to hand: Banks & similar associations; he was with keen eyes looking at people; at the streets, he also was looking for Mr Roberius but for not avail. He ends up in a bar, next to the one where he mets Roberius. The bartender approaches and said: "Hey, buddy! You look harassed! What's your big problem?" Fermentum told his case (abridged) and the bartender said:"

– Sorry, fellow, but your man could be hundreds of kilometers away, taking a sun bath in a beach!"
– Yes, I thought about that, but this is the cheapest way I can afford by now."
– But you have another way! The tycoon! The swindler have a pot of gold in that man! So, it's not difficult he could presents there again for another job! Go there and look on everyone getting at his portals!" The bartender said walking away to attend another client.

Fermentum walked to a taxi and asked the driver to carry him there; once at the surrounding area, he try to mine size among the trees, and waits. He saw 3 cars going in and after a while, coming out of that property; he almost was able to see faces inside the cars, but with much inaccuracy.

At 22 hours he returns home. His father said: "So, now what are your ideas for the future? Or are you looking for that evil man?"

— I'm looking for him allright! There's an enemy of him who is also searching for clues."
Mr. Cornimus coughed and said: "You should look for him but with an end date! I mean, search for about a month, and then find a job! You could get mad looking for him without end!"
— Yes, good idea. Just some more days on this, and then I'll do as you propose." — Fermentum said, feeling he was troubling his parents with this attitude."
He advertise his skills as explorer, giving a phone number to call if needing one; at the post he includes his photograph ... 2 days later, a man calls him, saying: "So you could guide a team through the jungle?
— Yes sir, but specify the direction! The jungle covers almost every corner of this continent!" Fermentum said, hoping for the better.
— Certainly, but I wish to [remain] preserve the direction until the last minute: suppose it to say I will cover 2.000 km and that the place is in the jungle."

—Very well. I don't mind going far and wide, but my price is 300K soles a month."—
Fermentus said, somberly: he was not going to risk his life for less than that.
A silence and then the voice in the telephone said: "A little expensive for my taste."
—Sir, I'll tell you the truth: I'm penniless after having received a job equal as now you are suggesting, but the employer disappears before paying! So now I'll ask you some money in advance, or I'll be forgetting this conversation." Fermentum said.
—I hear you and I guess you are right-My mad... but I'll give you the advance that you are talking about. Come to see me at the Royal Hotel, suite 20."
—When, Sir? And please state your name, so I could tell the administrator to whom I'll be meeting at the hotel—Fermentum said.
—Dieldon. Royal Hotel. suite 20. Now.— He replied.—

Mr. Dicaldon.

– Right. I'll be there." Fermentum paid, and looked at his wrist watch... 9:30 hours. He borrowed some money from his mother and in a taxi he travels to the "Royal Hotel."

– Suite 20, Mr. Dicaldon. He's expecting me."

– Wait a minute, Sir. I will confirm." The clerk said, and after a call, he authorized the entrance.

In a golden metallic elevator, he travels to that suite and rings the bell.

A beautiful woman opens the door, staring at him with big green eyes.

– I'm Fermentum. Mr. Dicaldon waits me." – he said.

– Come in." She said, guiding him to a chair and added: "Wait here, Mr. Fermentum"

MR. DICALDON, hunter

Soon afterwards a man of fifty enters the room, saying: "I'm Dicaldon, hunter. How are you, Mr. Fermentum?"
– Fine, thanks you. – He said, looking at the kaki uniform the man was wearing.
– I call you here because my phone other ears are hearing... recording... controlling. In here, well, it's more difficult for them."
– Of course there are ways to hear no matter how many walls you put in between."
– Of I know. Well, here is my project: to hunt rare animals to begin with a Zoologic. a fine one; not as the government have in a hill! No mud, no bad smell, no cages with bars."
– In the open?
– No! Inside fiberglass! Reinforced, transparent, no smell going out to the public!" – Mr Dicaldon said.
– So, we are not going to kill animals for sport. Very humane." – Fermentum approved the idea.

– Yes. How many men already in your team?" Fermentus asked.

– Oh, that's no problem! I pay nice salaries; people without a job aren't choosy! But also, they lack the spirit of adventure & daring we have!"

– Thanks for the compliment. When we depart?" – Fermentus asked him.

– Not so soon, I'm afraid. I need 30 men and I have only ten. But I'm sure more they come.

– I have 20 E-men. Do you know what are they... and what they could do?" – Fermentum asked.

– You are kidding! You said you were penniless... but you have several dozen millions worth in robots?" Mr. Dicaldon asked.

– The story is longe to tell you right now but yes, I have those mechanisms in my power, in my possesion, to command if you accept them."

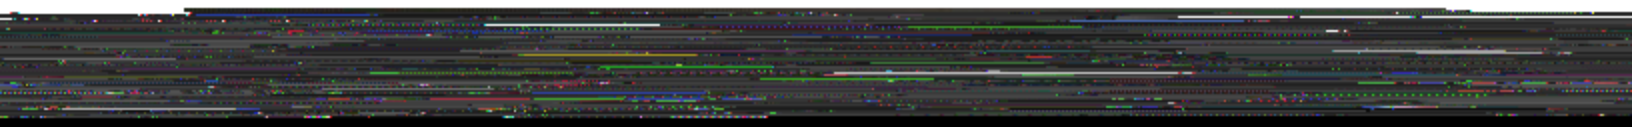
– Are you offering them me to buy them? I haven't enough money for that." – Mr. Dicaldon said. The woman enter the place, saying: "We are ready to lunch, dear."
– Oh! I'm with my guest here, isn't it..."
– "Fermentum, I know. To pen the door for him, remember?" She said, smiling.
– Of course. We are negotiating something, darling. Perhaps you could wait for me a little longer?" – Mr. Dicaldon asked.
– Certainly not! The lasagna don't wait! But you could invite Mr. Fermentum to lunch, and keep on talking!" – Miss Rosteden said.
– Of course... if you accept?" – Dicaldon asks of Fermentum.
– Yes, I accept. I love lasagna." – Fermentum said, to appear nice, but in fact, he was not fond of spaghetti in any form...



and you two making trouble!"
— Boss, this guy brings some robots to the expedition! They will be of no service in the wild! They will rust in a fortnight!" — That man said, spitting on his knuckles...
— Here I am the one deciding things! If you feel uncomfortable with artificial men, you can go, quit the expedition" Mr. Dicaldon said.
— You give me an advance, so I'll stay. But mind my words: these robots will rust in a couple of days!" — The man said, with a dark expression on his face"

Mr. Dicolder takes Fermentum by an arm, saying: "Accompany me, Mr. Fermentum! We have things to discuss!" — And with that, Rodrifen stay smiling scornfully, thinking he has made his point"

At his office, Mr. Dicaldon seats behind a mahogany desk, signalling a chair for Fermentum to take — Well, we're not starting with the right foot, are we?" He said.

— He speaks bad of my E-men without knowing him! Artificial humanoids are very capable." Fermentum said.

—Good. Now I must split the team in two: you and your 'boys', and Mrs. Rodrigen with the humans."
—I see no problem with that." Fermentum said, not knowing what was the real meaning of that.
One team must scout, the other to capture take the animals at stake. Probably the hardest job will be in charge of your team." Mr. Dicalbon said.
—No problem at all, sir." Fermentum said.
—Very well. You will prepare cages for the animals. Let's start with a big one, and then a smaller one. Each specimen in its individual cage."
—Made of wood or metal?
—Metal for me in my present circumstances is out of the question. Let's make the cages of wood. Plenty of trees around there are, so let's start chopping and preparing. I brought tools for that purpose." Mr. Dicalbon said.

8 Bismuto

In the next days, the team works cutting trees and preparing the logs; then with hammers and chisels, nails and effort, four big cages were prepared, and another four little ones.

The hunters, using hypodermic needles catch four Coelophysis, one Otniello and a Ceratosaurus juvenile, that goes into ~~the~~ a big cage.. The Coelophysis into smaller ones together with the Otniello, that barked day and night.

– You better sedate the Otniello, sir. The sound is making me crazy." – Fermentum said to Mr. Dicalbon.

– Yes, I'm also disturbed by him. But we must be patient! I rented some big helicopters, that will arrive for eight more days." – Mr. Dicalbon said, and the Otniello was sedated...

Fermentum and his men were also in charge of to feed the animals with plants, and also with the cleaning of the cages. Rodrifen laughed on them, calling the team "the dung batallion", and others also celebrates him on that evil... and degradating entertainment. Fermentum puts deaf heads on them, and the E. Nea were not preoccupied by that in the least.

A month later, 42 small cages and 18 big ones were ready to be loaded. 3 big helicopters arrives in a cold winter morning, and 2 big cages were attached to each one of the 3 helicopters.

Fermentum said to Mr. Dicaldon: "The beasts are very nervous with the sound of engines. Perhaps you should inject them with tranquilizers."

— What for? Are your cages flimsy ones?" — And did not inject them.

The helicopters were coming and going that busy day; 6 cages were carried away, and remains another 12 were at the camp, waiting for another day. Mr. Dicaldon calls Rodrifen and said: "Tell your men that tomorrow they'll be carried towards the city of Forwin. I need them there, to locate the beasts into cages."

— Why don't you send Mr. Fermentum? He's the one in charge of the beasts!"

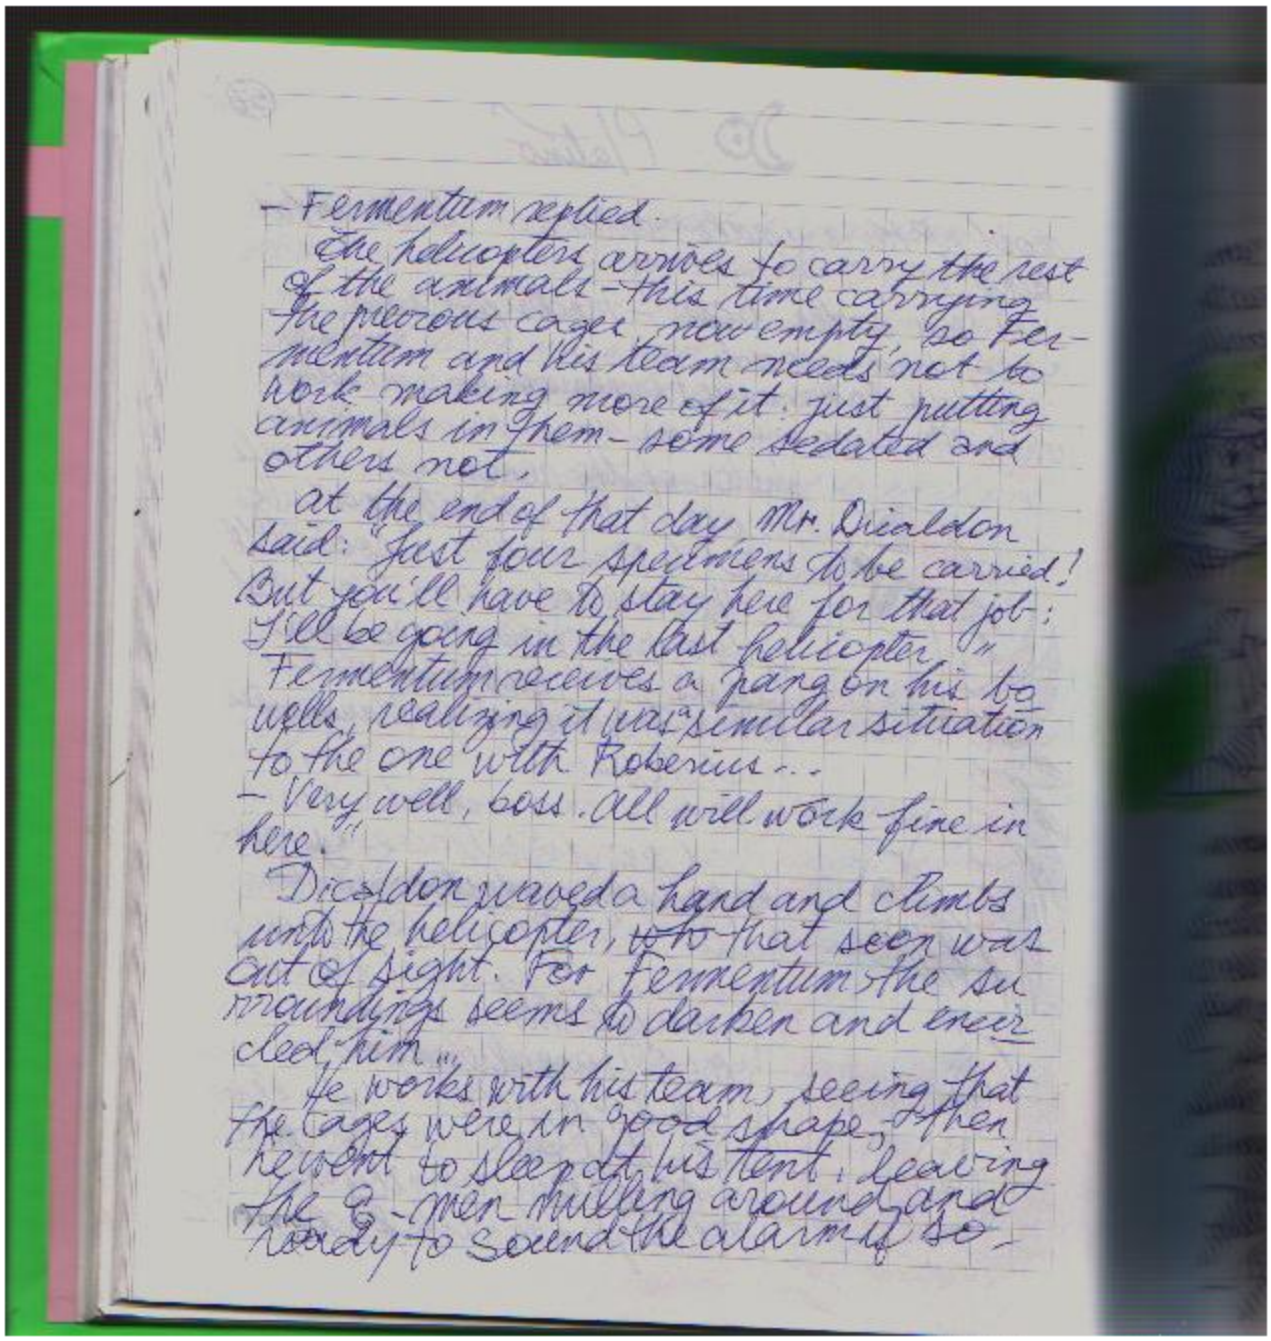
— Because I need him here, where the most of the animals remains! So do what I say."

- As you order, boss."- Rodrifen said, in a very bad mood.
2 days later, only Fermentum was in charge while Mr. Dicaldon was weighing and taking photos of the remaining animals to use it for advertisement. He said to Fermentum: "Soon I'll be the owner of a big Zoo! Not only a place where to see these beasts live, but also shops where to sell beverages, sandwiches and the like!"

- A nice Zoo indeed! You'll need guards, veterinaves, perhaps even a doctor, ambulance..." - Fermentum enumerates, cutting short the list of useful things.
- Yes! I have already some people engaged on that! Perhaps it'll be a post for you in my community."-
- I'll be glad to work for you, sir."-



– Fermentum replied.

The helicopter arrives to carry the rest of the animals – this time carrying the precious cages now empty, so Fermentum and his team needs not to work making more of it. Just putting animals in them – some sedated and others not.

At the end of that day Mr. Dicaldon said: "Just four specimens to be carried! But you'll have to stay here for that job: I'll be going in the last helicopter."

Fermentum receives a pang on his bowels, realizing it was a similar situation to the one with Roberius...

– Very well, boss. All will work fine in here."

Dicaldon waved a hand and climbs with the helicopter, ~~to~~ that soon was out of sight. For Fermentum the surroundings seems to darken and encircled him.

He works with his team, seeing that the cages were in good shape. Then he went to sleep at his tent, leaving the 2 men milling around and ready to sound the alarm if so.

me threat was coming - But the night, as the previous one, was a tranquil as could be in a jungle.

In the morning a helicopter arrives taking the remaining beasts - the pilot said: "Mr. Dicaldon said he'll arrive here to carry you and your team in a passenger helicopter."

— To-day?" - Fermentum asked — Certainly" - the pilot replied, and soon he was far away in his helicopter with the last Coelophysis in their cages - Fermentum packed his pertenences and waited " at sixteen hours, a red and white helicopter appears in the blue sky, and descended at the clearing. Miss Foseteden & climbs down, accompanied by a copilot in uniform.

— Hi, Fermentum! Bored of waiting?" - she asked, amid the sound of the engine.

— Not at all, miss. Have you a good flight?" - Fermentum asked.

— Yes - please, Fergeson, carry the bags of Mt-Fermentum to the helicopter please?" she ordered, and the man complies. She indicates a deserted cabin, saying: "We must to talk. Let's go there for privacy, yes?"

—Of course, lady. And how is Mr. Dicaldon?" Fermentum asked, as he was puzzled by his absence.

Fine, very fine." She said, looking at the helicopter - the copilot was staring but as he was not called, he remained away.

Inside the cabin they seat in metallic chairs, and she spoke in a murmur:

—Mt. Fermentum is not good health! You would recognize him if in your presence."

—Why? A stroke? A fall?" Fermentum asks what was more common in tragedies —Worst: he lose his mind." She said, beginning to cry. Fermentum stand up and puts a hand on her shoulder, saying: "Hard to believe: He was a clever guy!"

She moved her head and said:

—Not anymore. I take him to an Hospital, and he's under treatment, but the doctor told me there is but little hope of full recovery."

—What a pity! And what are you going to do with the animals „the Zoo" his pet project?"

—I will keep on going, pretending he is sane and well! Or else, go bankrupt and with no money, he will be in a ill attended, ill running Institution! Not for love of money that I'm here."

—I see, madam. I'm all ears to hear you demanding me to work for you both in anything required." — Fermentum said. She stop sobbing and said: "He was for ever talking about your skills and your devotion to work. So, I find nothing better than to ask help me run the Zoo. —Of course, they are a good help! —Fermentum said, admiring her nails.—

—Very well. Now we are going to return, and pretend Mr. Dicaldon rules the project from his house.—

—Of course.— Fermentum said, and in that instant, a crashing sound occurred, and they went out of the cabin to see what was happening.— What they saw, frazed the blood in their veins.— a big brontosaurus was charging against the helicopter, that toppled. The propellers hits the ground and a geiser of stones and mud.—

—What the heck!— commented Fermentum, in an agreable tone of voice.— The dinosaur stomped on the remains, ending with the pilots; then looked at them and [illegible]

The pair of Brontosaurus ambling around, giving grunts and growls; then they copulate... she was aroused and Fermentum possessed her among the rocks!
-My love!" He said several times until she also repeats that word...
2 hours later, the satisfied pair of sauropods walked away, and the silence and solitude returns to the spot.
-What I have dopped! I'm a married woman, never failing in honesty to my husband!" Miss Rosateden moaned next to Fermentum.
-We were in dire peril, my love. And perhaps to regain our normal brain functions we use sex to release the enormous tension. But this serves to demolish the wall between us. I have always been admiring you." Fermentum

— I don't know... — She said, blushing ---

The rest of that day was used trying to find water in a creek and fruits, that were scarce.

When dusk arrives, Miss Roseteden said:

— My people will be missing my return! Soon they will send another helicopter here! We must be close to the landing spot."

He was seated with his back to a tree, and said: "Hope those sauropods are kilometers away from here."

She stared at him and said: "But you said this were their territory!"

— Yes I did, but the area they believe correspond only to them encircles a radius of 30 kilometers!" — He replied to her rebuke...

They return to the crevice, and again make love in there, but she was less cooperative perhaps by because of the cold.

At the next morning, wet and hungry, they heard the noise produced by an helicopter. They ran until they spotted a yellow machine trying to land between 2 big trees.

– Run! We cannot lose this opportunity to be saved!" – She said, jumping over fallen trees.
But there was no need to hurry, because the pilot and the copilot were refueling the machine.
– Hello! Glad to see you come here for the rescue!" – Miss Roseteden said to them.
– Miss Roseteden! Happy to see you! Where are the rest?" – The pilot asked in anguish.
– Dead! They were attacked by a big dinosaur. The remains are still at a clearing." – Miss Roseteden informed, and the copilot north Fermentus went to see the debris.
– Must have been a big one! Tyrannosaur?" – The copilot asked.
– Brontosaurus!" – Fermentus said. The copilot raise his brows... and said:

– You must be silent about it! I run the financial side of this project of him! Nobody must know he is impeded physically, or all will be crumbling down." Miss Rosteden said. Fermentum grabbed her and kissed her with passion. After a while, she said:
– not here, Fermentum!"

Fermentum kissed her and said: "All right, darling. I'll do my best !"

That same night he reads on Mr. Dicaldon papers and realize they were making good profits but with lots of expenses that ends up meaning a bankruptcy was already in the horizon.

At the next day he visited de Too in her company. She calls the manager: Mr. Rodrifen, who was surprised to hear her say:

- I present you our General Manager, who is here on orders of my husband: he is in charge of everything."

- But why ? I'm working fine; I don't need baby sitters." - Rodrifen, reddening.

- Sorry ! But those are orders from my husband, who is too busy at the city trying to get more sponsors." - Miss Rostolen said.

- I will need to revise your methods, Rodrifen ! Too much expenses in things not very useful for the Roo." – Fermentum said.

– Oh, yeah? like what, if I can know of it?"

– Yes, you can hear about. Those 3 new cars for the employees! Seemingly to send them on errands out of the enclosure! Guess that with only one will be enough." – Fermentum said.

– Pure nonsense! In a routinary day, we use the car to go out finding cheap groceries for our beasts! A worker talks with the farmer, makes a deal, and then groceries come on trucks! Also, if there's someone sick, the car carries him or her to a Hospital or, in cases, a clinic. But there are more errands to do than what I mentioned! So you better find where to economize in a better, efficient form." – Mr. Hotifen replied.

– I will personally investigate that, and other things." – Fermentum replied.

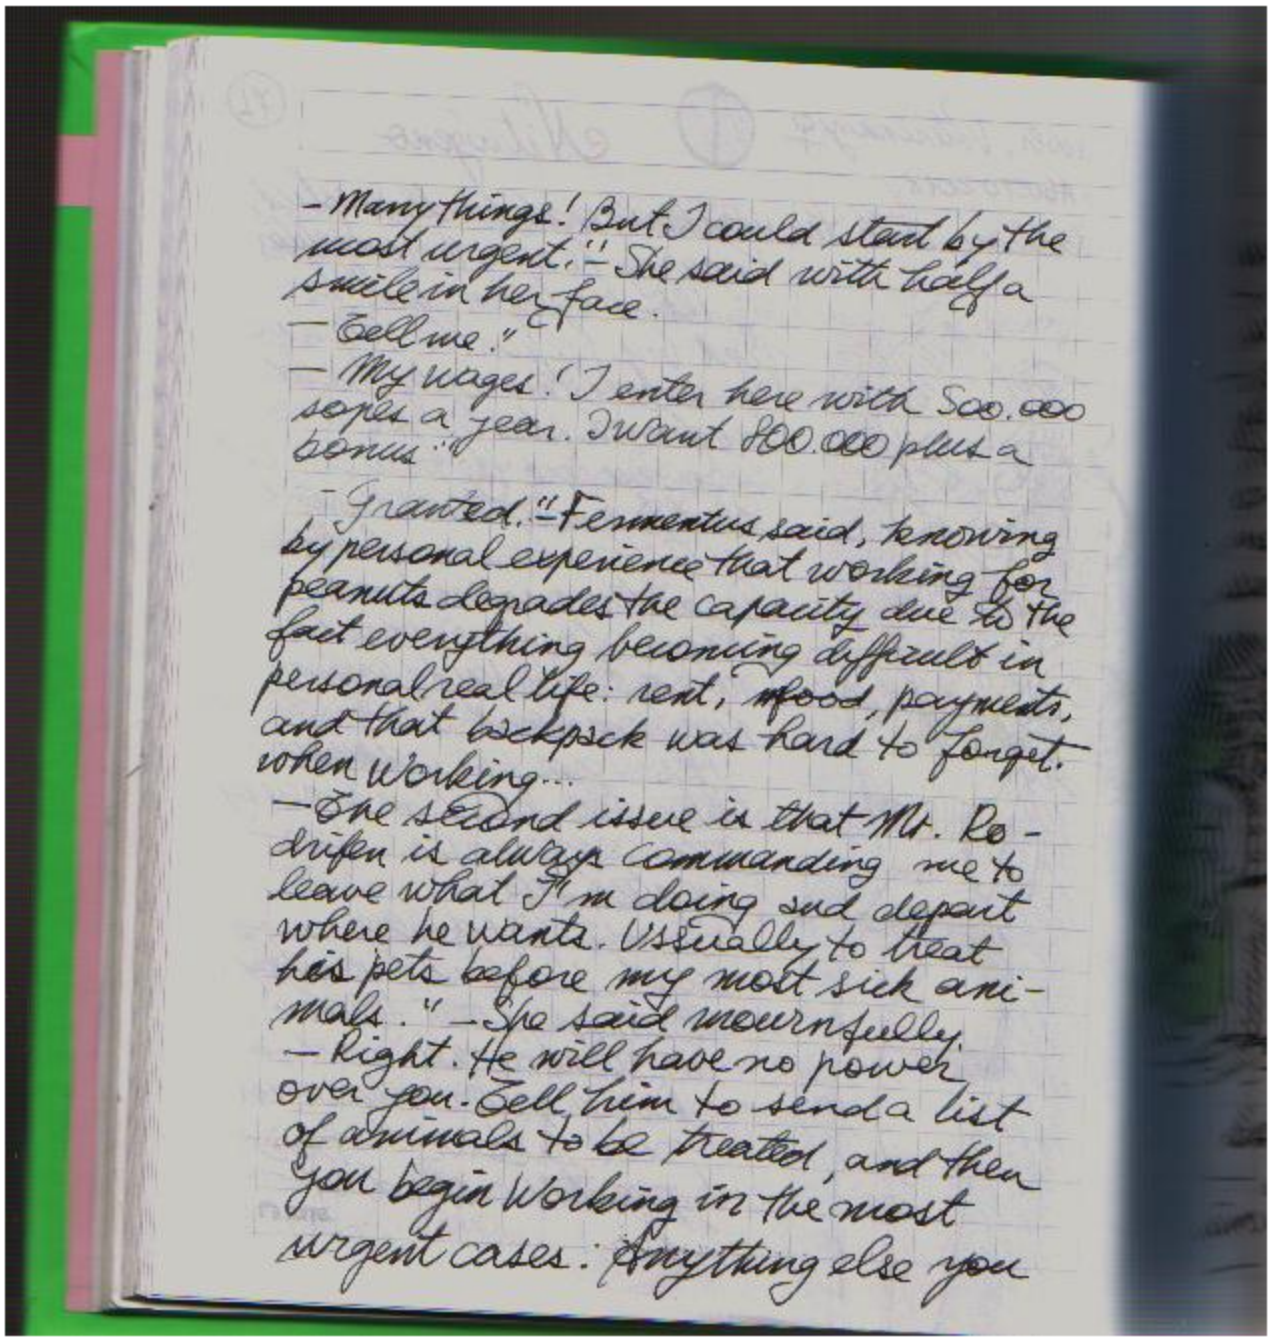
-Yes, I am the administrator here but I'm finding little cooperation" -Fermentus said.

-I can help you there." -She said, smiling friendly.

-Thanks. Start telling me what do you need to change or purchase in your labour." -Fermentus asked of her.



– Many things! But I could start by the most urgent." – She said with half a smile in her face.
– Tell me."
– My wages. I enter here with 500.000 soles a year. I want 800.000 plus a bonus."

– The second issue is that Mr. Rodrifen is always commanding me to leave what I'm doing and depart where he wants. Usually to treat his pets before my most sick animals." – She said mournfully – Right. He will have no power over you. Tell him to send a list of animals to be treated, and then you begin working in the most urgent cases. Anything else you want me to do?" Fermentus asked.

—Yes, but I will wait to see if you could comply with these 2 first request." Miss Bauer said.
—Most logical decision. I'll ask now Mr. Rodrifen you are autonomous from now on, and to make lists instead of to appear here giving orders... to the Treasurer I'll tell you have now new wages and a bonus." Fermentus said, walking away.—

Rodrifen heard the order and didn't reply. The treasurer Mr. Julerfen said:
—A raise from 500k to 700k to Miss Bauer. And a bonus."
—Make it to 10.000 sopes each 12 months." Fermentus said.
—As you wish, Sir.—Julerfen said.
—I want a complete report on finances. How much we debt, when, to whom. And how much we have in Banks, in future deliveries, and everything you have in your books."—Fermentum asked.
—I have to work on that, Sir. How about in a lapses or time frame of a week?
—Mr. Julerfen said.

Mr. Dicaldon recovers.

– Fermentum! My husband awakes asking for food and water! I'm at the Clinic now... come here quick!"

– On the double." – Fermentus replied, putting the money inside the safe box and closing the door while a turmoil of thoughts were running fast inside his mind.

He takes his motorcycle, and rushed out towards the Clinic. Inside, Miss Rosateden was at a chair in a corridor...

– Hollow, sweaty!" He barely said before She jumped from the chair and embrace him, crying.

– Calm down, honey! The man is not fully recovered yet! He cannot be!" – Fermentum said, kitting her left ear.

– I'm afraid, dear! He's so possessive! Our romance will be broken! Our sweet love shattered!" – She pronounced...

– And what are doctors saying?" – He asked.

– Oh! That's a miracle! And he's beginning to ask about things are going!" – She said, and in that moment a nurse

- I'll be there in a moment!" - Miss Rosetealen said, sobbing.

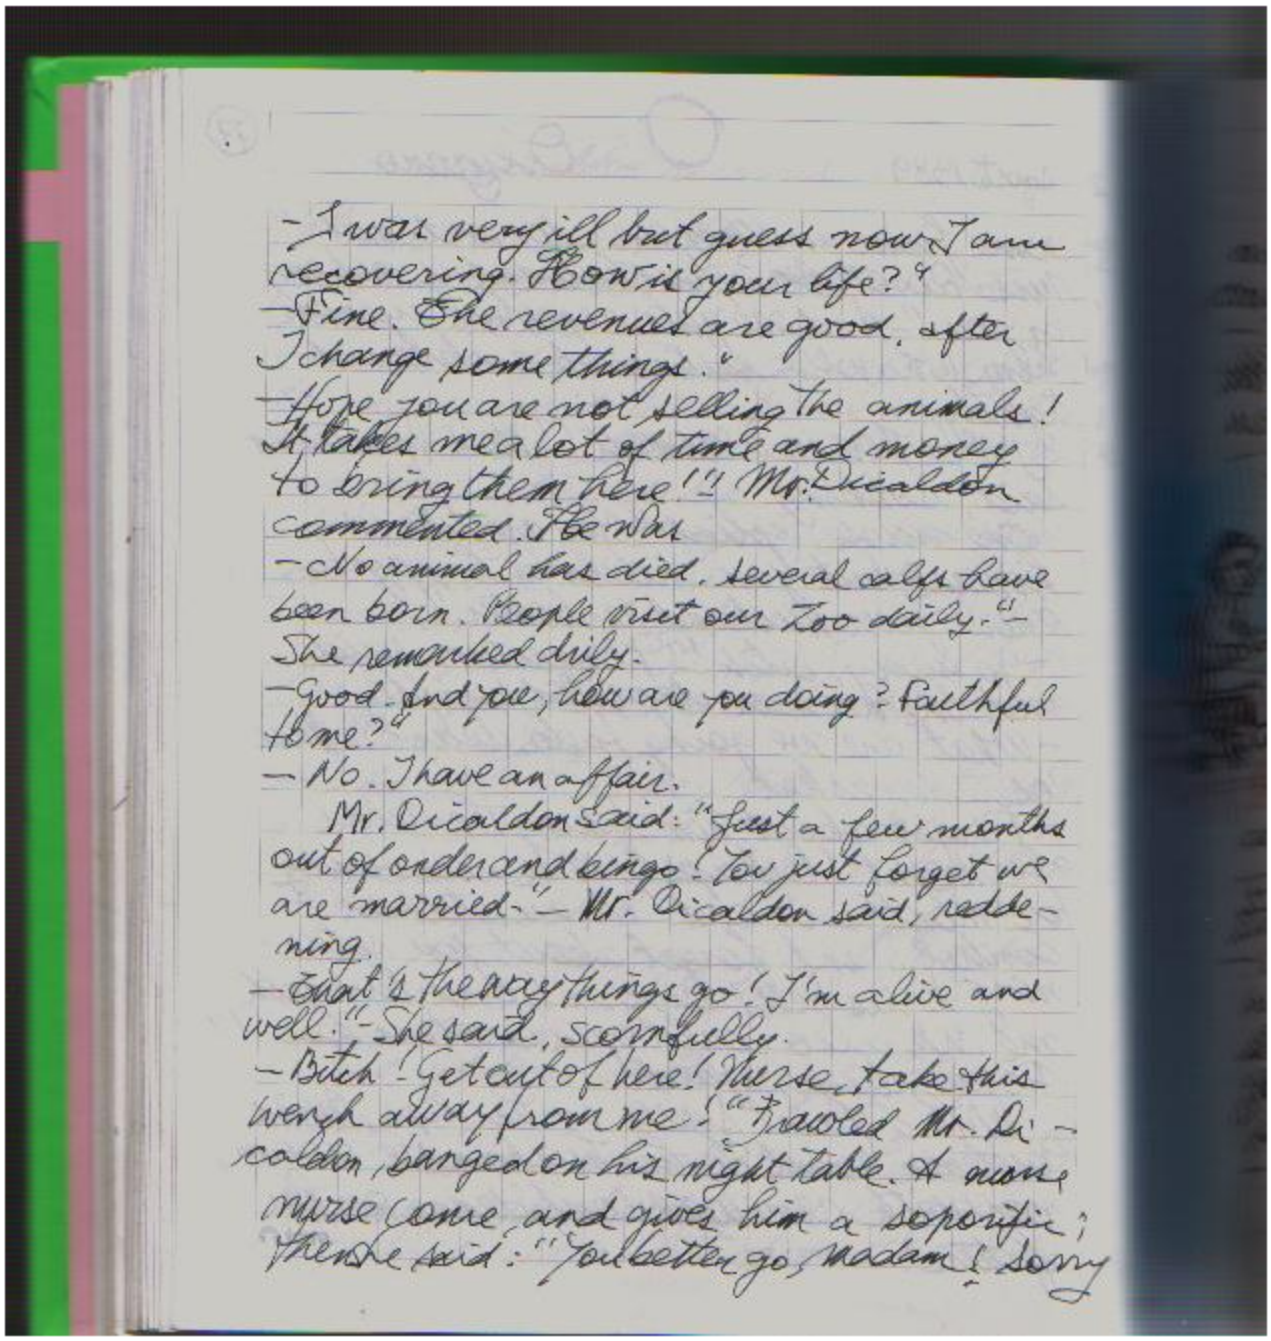
The nurse replied: "You are like in a funeral, but you should be happy to know your husband is better."

- Go away, bitch!" - Fermentum said, and the woman departed swiftly.

- What are we going to do, dear?" - Miss Rosetealen asked.

- Forget about him taking the reins overnight! Perhaps he'll be recovering for months on end! We are still in control... and forget about you returning to his bed! Divorce! And live with me. We also could open another Zoo!" Fermentum replied.

With a faint smile on her lips, Miss Rosetealen went to his husband's room, now with renewed confidence on her future.



- I was very ill but guess now I am recovering. How is your life?"
- Fine. The revenues are good, after I change some things."
- Hope you are not selling the animals! It takes me a lot of time and money to bring them here!" Mr. Dicaldon commented. He was
- No animal has died. Several calfs have been born. People visit our Zoo daily." - She remarked drily.
- Good. And you, how are you doing? Faithful to me?"
- No. I have an affair.

Mr. Dicaldon said: "Just a few months out of order and bingo! You just forget we are married." - Mr. Dicaldon said, reddening.

- That's the way things go! I'm alive and well." - She said, scornfully.
- Bitch! Get out of here! Nurse, take this weigh away from me!" Yawled Mr. Dicaldon, banged on his night table. A nurse came and gives him a soporific; then she said: "You better go, madam! Sorry about his behavior! Must have been the medicaments."

—Yes, I understand."— She said, walking out of the room. At the corridor Fermentum was waiting, worried about the tantrum.
—My darling! Did he beats you?"
—How could he! He's barely normal; he's in bed with a catéter in each arm!"— Miss Rosetteden said, now very self possesed.
In the car and traveling towards the Zoo, She said:
—I told him I have a new Mon. He gets mad at me."

—One natural behavior on a cheated husband."— Fermentum said. She stares at him and said:
—Cheating? Sorry to say, that you are very wrong! I left him for you! I have never live in one house with a husband and go to the street to meet a lover."— She said.
—Certainly true."— He said, kissing her.
In the days that follows, Mr. Rosetteden asks for a divorce, and

The lawyers split the patrimony in 2 equal parts.
Mr. Egalo, lawyer of Mr. Dicalolon, said to Miss Roseteden: "Your husband are willing to give you half the Zoo, but without the animals, that he pretends to have in another location."
-And if I refuse?
-Well, in that case everything will be auctioned. I recommend you to accept, as in an auction both of you will lost a lot of money."
-I see. What do you have to say about this, Fermentum?" Miss Roseteden asked.
-accept, darling. We can hunt for new animals. Fermentum recommends".
-I accept, sir." She said to Mr. Egalo, that said: "I will send you the documents for you to sign, Miss Roseteden. Have a good day." -And he went out of her office at the Zoo.
-Sorry to say, I was attached to the animals." Miss Roseteden sobbed.

Fermentus said: "Well, it rests to see how much of the money at the Bank is yours."
— Don't worry: every coin it's at my Bank Account."
— Good, because I'll be needing to depart in a quest for strange animals, and that will cost money."
— How much money?
— About 8 million Lopes. I must hire hunters, a veterinary, a Medic... and the use of weapons."
— Very well, I have more than 50 millions."

The men advanced by the woods and soon they were looking at a fine specimen of Ecopheognathus.

— Let me fire, sir! I'm sure I could add this specimen to your Zoo!" — Tycot the hunter said — Miss Rosetteder's Zoo." Fermentus corrected the phrase, as he was not confiding in to be the owner.

Tycot fired the feathered syringe that went straight to the Ecopheognathus's neck. The animal extended his wing to escape but instead he went to the ground, intoxicated.

— Tie him up!" — Fermentus said, knowing that some beasts recovered very soon from the drugs.

—I love you. But you are living with another woman. You must decide with whom you will stay." Miss Bauer said.
Fermentus passed a hand over his face and said: "It's you who the one I like most. But money is necessary in life. Miss Rosetedes is young, wealthy and starting anew with the loo. I must help her all the way."

At the next day, Fermentus obtained four Javerlandia five Minmi and two Salchania; Miss Brawer was very busy analying the animals, injecting vaccines and curing little scratches, and desinfecting eyes or skin (when needed). Fermentus sent the men put more traps and calls on the Base...

—Roseteden? How are you, darling?" He asked by the radio - with Miss Brawer working at the pens, he could have freedom of speech...

—Oh, it's you, Fermentum! Wish you were here." - She said.

—Me too, darling. I will sent you the first group of beasts! Send me 2 helicopters as soon as you can: I need space here, to house them, and there is the danger of a carnivore trying to have his dinner on the poor things." - Fermentus said.

—I will! Oh, I'm more confident now! Do you think I can open the Zoo with what you are sending?" – Miss Roseteden asked.

– Of course, darling! But perhaps you should lower the entrance ticket. Say, a few sopes only, with a note: in a near future, more species will be shown!" – Fermentum said.
– Oh, you are so special! Get hurry to come back!" – Miss Roseteden said, and after some more talk, she ends the communication.
Fermentum went to the pens and said to Miss Beawer: "The helicopters will be here tomorrow. Prepare the animals with sedatives."
– Yes, dear. Is she coming, too?" Miss Beawer asked, while desinfecting a Minmi.
– I don't think so. " He replied, confidently. Miss Roseteden was more interested in opening again the Zoo than visiting the Jungle...
At the next day, the helicopters brought fruits, meat, lettuce, onions, potatoes and grocery. They embarked the animals in iron cages and departs.

At the Zoo, Miss Rosetoden caged the new speimens and 2 Veterinary come to revise the animals with care. After the evaluation, the Veterinary Mr. Mansop said: "They are wild animals never before caged. I recommend you to house them in ample spaces, not in cages."

- Understood!"- Said she, and in a couple of weeks she already have walls that encircled different kinds of animals, running free and feeding on what the workers gives each day, in the morning. The clients come to see the new speimens at low cost bills; soon the increase in selle of tickets makes the whole operation a good business.
Miss Rosetoden calls on Fermentum saying: "This 3 last weeks people have been coming in throngs! Hurry sending more animals, dear!"
"We have 33 specimens already! Send the helicopters right away!" He replied, because he have, in the pens, 12

Saturnalia, two Jobaria and three Migersaurus. The rest were Denochasma."
— Good! I'll send the helicopters tomorrow.
Miss Rosetedden said..."
— What did she said?"! Mill Bawer asked some time later.
— She will send helicopters! Tomorrow we have to embark our specimens at large!
Come! I'll tell the men about this!" —
Fermentus said.
At dinner time, while eating their di-last findings! So we must be prepared!

specimen duly sedated and tied for the — But we need vacations, sir! Weeks in this wilderness makes a man see things in the woods!" Tycot said.

— Such as?" — Fermentum asked.
— Figures that hides the second we notice their presence!" Nabar (a hunter) said...
— Very well! We'll ship our brutes, and I will ask a trip for us to go." — Fermentum said and the men cheered his words...

Afterwards and already in bed, Miss Bawer said: "If we go from here, another woman will take my place."
— Not in my heart, darling." Fermentum said. She embrace him, saying: "I would have never imagine myself more attached to the jungle than to a city! But here I am, wishing to stay."

He caressed her all night...

When dawn appears, everyone worked hard and fast, preparing the animals for the flight. At 13:30 hours, 3 helicopters appears and landed on the near by clearing. Pilot Mr. ANABA said to Fermentum:"

was troubled? —Fermentum asked.
—Nothing! It was a very short conversation!"— Miss Bauer replied, seating on the sofa- Fermentum seats at her side and said: "She was worried: you told her that something happens at the jungle that sets you thinking in to quit the job!"
—Well, really I wished to say what happened there between you and me, but I lack the courage. She looks so whole, that makes me feel a rat if telling what does her man with me in the nights."— Miss Bauer said.
—By Jove! You shouldn't have said a thing!" —Fermentum commented.—
—Nothing is going to happen, dear! Relax!"— and she leaned on him, kissing his lips.
That night Fermentum slept with her and in the morning he said: "I'm decided now: no more cheating!"
→ So, what do you decide? —Miss Bauer asked.
—I'll leave the Zoo, now it is working as before! But I cannot make a scene with her... she will get mad at me, possiby using her gun against me! So I prefer to leave the stage in an orderly silencious way."

Miss Bauer embraces him, saying:

—If you prefer me telling what happen in the jungle, I will go there to clarify the situation."

—no! It's way better to leave a note at her bed saying I'm going away in a safari, not knowing when I will return." — Fermentas said.

—That will kill her. First her husband and now you." Miss Bauer said.

— Yes. His husband have a new woman in his life - Miss Roral. Guess she will be happy to see Miss Roseteden is suffering." — Fermentum said.

—So? What are you doing now?" She asked.

— Easy! Fly away... with a you in disguise! She will be not seeing you. We'll be back at the Brenner —Hope this time it will be longer." Miss Bower said, smiling.

When told, Miss Roseteden said: "So soon? are you really necessary there?"
Fermentum, who have thought on difficulties, said: "We need a serpentarium! a place secluded through window panes, where serpents could be seeing eating and drinking water! It will attract people!"

After some more talk, she said: "Money! We will be expending money again! Certainly you bring here the most important item a zoo requires! But so repeatedly? It takes money that is not yet recovery from the first expedition!"

Fermentum said: "This time I'll be going with only five persons! Not needed more than that! Plenty of the traps! less food, less..."

- No. Certainly not needed! Serpents are very resilient!" He said.
Later, she accepted, and added: "Be here not after 20 days! If you have ten serpents in good shape at the end of that time lapse, I'll be satisfied!"
- And you must build closed glass cages! A corridor with cages at just one side will do." - Fermentum said.
- Another million in expenses!" - She complained...
At a hotel, he rented a room to meet Miss Bawer, who arrives at 23 hours.
- Dear! I receive your message but I mistake the name of this hotel! Fortunately, a taxi driver carried me here from the other side of town!" - Miss Bawer explained.
- The important thing it's that you are here." - He said, embracing her tightly. After some kissings, she asked: "so? are you guessing I'm being spied?"

— More than certain! she notice something quer on my desire to get back to the jungle." — Fermentum said.
— So she suspect? — Miss Bauer asked — Because you give a clue. — Fermentum said.
— Sorry! But I was very mad with that situation..." — She explains.
— I understand. Well, I'm preparing everything to start the expedition. — If you need something extra, tell me now or if you prefer... here are 30.000 ropes for expenses." — Fermentum said.
— Thanks, but I already have everything I need." — Miss Bauer said.
— As you wish. Well! You don't have anything else to do but to come here tomorrow: I'll be here in the afternoon, to tell you exactly when we'll depart." — Fermentum said.
— I love you!" She said, embracing him tenderly...

Four days later, in 2 helicopters, The third expedition departed from the airfield, with Miss Bauer desguised as a middle aged bearded man,

They descended 1300 kilometers to the North west, in a jungle where the tall trees grows in profussion, due to the rains that falls very often and without previous notice. Fermentas looked on his Note Pad the next lines:

-I will not argue with a professional." Fermentum said.
-You better not,, dear." She said, pressing his hand.

A hollow cry, and everyone stays on the alert; then, a Baryonix appears, giving chase to a Otniella. The men stay flat on the ground, hoping not to be detected. Minutes later, both animals were far away in their mad race.

-Let's proceed!" Fermentus said, trying not to show he was still afraid; everyone reachs the mountain and begin searching for snakes: they found 2 small ones and three black eggs...

-Look! a ___!" Miss Bauer said; the snake was only showing his head out of a hole near a rock. They take it using a hook, and after some struggle, the beast was sedated and carried to camp.

-He will eat, but not soon! Serpents detest being captive." Miss Bauer said.

Miss Bawer.

Fermentum went with his team several times to the mountain, that gives up a dozen big snakes, a hundred little ones, and eggs, that Miss Bawer tries to hatch without success."

The helicopter arrives, and carried the snakes in bags, while the team occupies the seats without much optimism. While in flight, Miss Bawer said to Fermentum: "This expedition was like a happy vacation to me. Hope you get out of your affair with Miss Roseteden."

—Yes, darling, count with that! Now I am sure my relation with her has grow cold with my absence. The best icy water to freeze any relationship its separation for a long time."

—But we were out only for 20 days! I am sure she feel that your relation ship it's still warm." — She insisted, and in view of her ster—bborness, he didn't devote more on the subject...

She returns directly to her flat, while the rest went to the Zoo, together with the snakes and the scary pilots.-

-"Oh, what nice specimens you have brought!" Miss Roseteden said, when the workers puts the recently arrived ofidians into the glass containers.

-I am sure your clients will be thrulled when looking at the snakes!" Fermentum said.

-Why do you say "your clients"? Remember that you are a part of the business!" Miss Roseteden commented.

Fermentum was decided to end the romantic relationship then and there but looking at the face of Miss Roseteden, he was utterly unable to do so... and the best way he chooses was to mount in his motorcycle and went away from her...

When ringing at Miss Baver's abiding place, he was with a strong feeling of uncompleteness, a void in his chest, an anguish lurking inside his head. Miss Bauer opens the door, and seeing him and the 2 valises on the floor, she unites her hands and said: "You really did it? Do you end your relationship with Miss Rosteden?"

- Sort of."

- How could anyone say "I end a relationship "sort of"... or am I am at a lost here? But come inside, take your bags!" Miss Bauer said, not in the best of humors...

- let me explain, please? She was looking at the serpents, and I mention that the Zoo was entirely pers. She insinuate I also was having something to do there..." - Fermentum said.

- Very vague. I just cannot understand. It is so difficult for you to say: "I quit! I go from here and from your life! Is it too difficult to say - To memorize? Go there and tell what I am saying! It's still time! Darkness hasn't arrived yet." - Miss Bauer said.

—Yes, I am a coward. "Fermentum said, departing back to the loo... he finds her seated at a table and working on ciphers with a treasurer.

—Oh, you are back? Where do you go? Let me present you Mr. Vocaneve, who replace you while away." - Miss Foseteden said in a staccato voice -

—I come to say good bye! I don't want to keep on with our relationship. "He said. She puts her eyes blank and fall to the floor."

—Help me carry her to the sofa!" The treasurer puffed out. Once there, the treasurer (who was a man in his sixties) said: "This is no way to treat a lady! And mind my words, little man: she is a real lady, not as so many WT wenches that lurks in the streets!" Mr. Vocaneve said.

They throw some water on Miss Foseteden's face, but to not avail.

—This is serious. Do you realize what have you done? I'll call an ambulance!" The treasurer said, running out to the street....

Fermentum.

The ambulance takes her to the Hospital, and both men arrives there by their own means. The doctor examine her and 2 hours later he come out to the lounge and said to Fermentus: "She is awake now but under stress. She's calling for you."
- I'll be glad to attend her."
- Well, if that is your decision, I recommend not to stress her any more than she is right now. Lie, or tell the truth, but not dissappoint her, or she could get worse." - The doctor said.
- Very well." Fermentus agreed, and Mr. Vocaneve grabs him by an arm, saying: "Don't keep on telling you'll desert her, or I'll personally kill you!"
- I understand." - Fermentus said, very abated and repented.
He enters where she was in bed, and seeing her very pale, he said: "Darling! How do you feel right now?"
- Not so good... what happens with me?" - Miss Roseteden asked.
- You fainted because something I said. But don't worry: I'm here." - Fermentum said, taking her hand - that was cold

-Oh, I remember you saying our relationship was over..." -Miss Roseteden said.
-Well, I was only saying I was going, but to the jungle! Many animals there to be of interest for the public!" -Fermentum said. She smiled and said: "Oh, silly me! I thought you were leaving me alone!"
-No, darling. How could I?" -Fermentum replied, realizing he just cannot leave her... and stayed there until the doctor said she could leave the hospital but not the treatment.
-You see that Miss Roseteden does not receive any strong impression, sir. Or there will be severe consequences." -The doctor said, staring at Fermentum.
-I understand; I'll see to it. And thanks for your work."
-Any time. Good luck." -The doctor said, going away by a corridor.
-Carry me home, Fermentum! I wish to see my plants." -Miss Roseteden said in a faint voice. Fermentum begins to suspect she already knows about his plans to leave her... In her attitude was a sign of resignation and sorrow...
-Yes, darling. I will keep you company from now on.

No more jungle trips for me." Fermentum said, hailing a taxi cab...

At her home, after leaving her resting at her bed, Fermentum went to her desk, and seats on the armchair to think. He grabs a pencil and a notepad, and writes a list of prosx cons on his situation. He added the pity he have for Miss Rosetedem, and decides to stay. If Miss Bauer accepts to be his girl friend in the shadows, good for her. If not, he will keep on with Miss Rosetedem as before... while in respect to the jungle... he needs to be there, once in a while... Then he remember Miss Bauer's ultimatum, and smiled: No woman wants to share a man in his society, but there were small communities where a woman could have any number of men, while in others a man could have any number of wives as he could feed, clothe and shelter...

He works in documents until tea time, and went to see Miss Rosetedem... he finds Glora, the maid, and he asks: "When did she fall asleep?"

– 3 hours ago. She was worried about you, but I assure her that you were working at her desk." – Glora replied – And what did she said?" – Fermentum asked.

1-Sept. 2018.

—She said that is was good to have you back." Glora replied.

—Nice. See that she repose. I'll be at the kitchen, preparing me something." Fermentum indicates.

—Yes, sir." Glora said.-

After dinner, he slept at the guest's room, not to bother Miss Roseteden.

—Sir, Miss R. is calling for you." The maid said, at 3.00 hours in the morning.

—I'll be there." He replied, and after putting his shoes, he walked by the carpeted corridor and enters her room.

—How do you feel now, darling?" He asked, taking one of her hands.

—Fine. So, you were working?

—Yes. Putting myself up to date... sort of." Fermentum said.

—I have been thinking. Perhaps you should marry me... and take everything under control." She said, staring at him.

—As you prefer.

—But do you want it or not? I wish our relation could not become a financial operation!" She said.

—That's why I reject being a partner! But of course, to be your husband will be a great honor." — He said, kissing her.

In the days that followed, they prepare the necessary documents and in a cold winter day, they get married with only the necessary witness and afterwards, a lunch in a Restaurant.

later, they return to the Zoo, where they spent the afternoon looking at the animals. Fermentum have a glimpse of Miss Bauer next to a cage, and then she was gone ...

Weeks later, he realize Miss Roseteden didn't work at the Zoo in any way, spending her time at home, knitting or looking at the holoset.

With that, the weight of the Zoo Administration fell heavily on his shoulders, taking his time to think in other things.

But, contrariwise to what Fermentum thought, life with Miss Roseteden didn't returned as before Miss Bauer appears in his sentimental life. Now he saw her as a matron, an old lady (despite she was still young) and her face appears to him like a – We'll set the traps tomorrow! – Permentum said, as he prefer a certain security on camp than set the meat to put traps.

They slept after a meal with clamps and other sea creatures. The night was cold but they use a gas stove that heated the wooden cabin.

A growling dinosaur passed close to the enclosure, sniffed on the wooden barrier and went his way... It was a Guanlong, herbivorous creature.
At the next day, they follow his tracks and finds him looking a nest with several eggs.

—We must show end results to the Too... not full bellies!" harry said.
They slept while harry keeps on guard - in the morning the rest of the team finds him not; and they begin searching out of the pallisade.
—But how could he have gone away? He never learns to fly!" Sycot said, jocking. But he stop jocking when they found a Anaconda-like serpent lying next to a brook.
—look! He's swollen!
—Damn it! He must have swallow something big last night!" Fermentum said, with a chill running down his throat back...
Sycot fired to the brain of the snake, that splits apart, sending bloody flesh all around. The body jerked and begin lashing the surroun ding area, making a cloud of dust spread around.

bulky and found the greased body of Lavy inside.
—We must bury it." Fermentum said, and after some effort, they put the body inside a hole and covered it with stones.
—Rest in peace, buddy! Your days in this world has ended." Fermentum said, and Tycot fired his weapon twice...

They sedate 3 other species: 2 Guanlong and one Pteranodon juvenile, this 200 meters up the mountain. It was very thin and with hungry, and the men feed him with 2 fat rats they found near the pens:
—Carnivore like us! A fine specimen of Pteranodon. Guess there are only 3 at the zoo." Fermentum said
They set more traps, and went to sleep.

At the next day they find 3 Otniella, 4 Scipiony and saw how a Deinonicus was eating a Velophysis ~~trapped~~ caught on a trap.

— Did we shoot at him? Mobelus asked.

— Yes. We'll eat it. Fermentum said, worried a Deinonicus were at the same area than him and his team.

It was necessary 30 shots of hypodermics to sent the Deinonicus down to the ground.

— Let's butcher him before the effect passed away!"

Fermentum said, and with axes and machetes they cut its throat, and almost severed the scally scally scaly neck.

— Now he could not be hunting anymore!" Mobelus said, smiling and with his face, shirt, arms, full of blood stains.

They make a fire and roasted the meat; they carried it to camp, and with salt they storage in a big cage.

Hope they don't...

-Now our carnivores will eat to replenish their hungry bellies!"- Mobelus said, but in fact, they were the most feeded; in a week they looked fat and greasy...

A month later, Miss Roseteden calls on Fermentum, saying: "Dear, it's time to come back. Our treasurer needs you."

-all right, darling. Sent 2 helicopters."- He said.

-That many specimens do you have? Herbivores?"

-She demanded an answer, as financial issues weren't as good as she needs.

-Plenty of herbivores, and some carnivores."

-Hope they don't eat much! Meat around here is expensive."

-I see. Well, we can hunt for cheap animals in the market to feed what we already have.

-Come back soon. I'll send helicopters as soon as I can."- Miss Roseteden promised him.-

That night Fermentum said to his reduced team: "Our patron Miss Roseteden is asking me to finish our expedition. I assured that you will receive your wages plus a bonus of 50%."

– And what did that means?" Eyes asked.

– 300.000 wages, 150.000 Bonus, gives a total of 450.000 Sopes." – Fermentum replied. The men weren't much happy but accepted it as something unavoidable.

The next 2 days they use preparing the animals for the flight. 2 helicopters arrives 3 days later, and in a day they carried all of the animals towards the Zoo.

– Nice catch! Seems you worked hard this time!" – Pilot Nabat said.

– Yes, we need a vacation." – Fermentum said.

– Good for you! I have no real vacations! They (the Rent a helicopter Co.) gives 5 days each 3 months. But 3 days are so few!" Pilot Nabar said.

The 2 helicopters went away at the third flight of that day: no animals remains at the enclosure.

– Tomorrow they will carry Lone. Now it's too late for that and the pilots told me that they need to rest." – Fermentum said Kimberly.

"The Velociraptor attack." 000131

That night a Velociraptor enters the cabin by a hole near the floor and scratches a satchel that Eyjot have full of dried meat. They fire against it, that in terror jumps over Mobelus, who receives some wounds on his chest.

The animal died, but the impression it gaves over the men forbids them to keep on sleeping.

Fermentus cured Mobelus wounds and at the next day they leave camp in a helicopter, with Mobelus with high degree of fever.

- You'll get well, buddy! I'm sure Miss Roseteden will pay for hospitalization at Formin City! - Fermentus said.

- You don't know how happy you make me with that news! - Mobelus said acidly... he was willing to obtain a Juicy bonus for compensation.

At the Zoo, Miss Rosetteden receives him gladly and very romantic; at the next day Fermentum revised Books and with the Treasurer explaining certain obscure points in buying and selling.

At the next day, and after another night of Champagne (local) and kisses with Miss Rosetteden, Fermentum went to see the animals in exposition and also at the Clinic, where some specimens were treated. To his surprise, Miss Bauer was there, in a black apron, feeding an injured Coelophysis.

— Hi! You here?

— Yes. Why the amazement? I'm a Veterinary, remember?" She replied, staring fixedly at him.

— I remember you very often in my dreams. You live for ever in them."

— And why the pity?

— No pity but pure joy. Wish life could be as perfect as some dreams are." — Fermentum replied. She peeps curing a Sundae on that sedated Zelophisys and said: "There is a famous pianist in town. Care to go with me?"

– I love music, specially if in good company." – Fermentum replied.

– Good. 21 hours at "The Smiling Dragon." – She said.

– I'll be there..." – He said, going out of the clinic.

At the office he seated, leafing bills and thinking he was again walking to a pit without a bottom...

To Miss Rosetkden he said: "I'll be with some friends tonight. Don't wait for me."

She stared sadly at him and said: "They told me you were talking with Miss Barber. Hope she will be not among your friends."

– Certainly not." Fermentum lied, and she smiled knowingly...

The Smiling Dragon was an old movie theatre transformed in a place to perform any kind of show, previous a price to the owner.
Fermentus waits for Miss Bauer, that wasn't around; when the pianist begin to perform, Fermentus enters the place and seats in one of the many vacant chairs — almost half of them weren't occupied.
The pianist was a good one, and the audience pay much attention of his performance... except the unavoidable coughs and shoe shuffings.
1½ hours later, the pianist ends his work. People applauded and the pianist makes a bow.
Fermentum went out and waits in the street for Miss Bauer, who could be going out but no; the last music addict walks out and Miss Bauer never appears.

Enraged and despised, Fermentus hails a taxi and went back home. Miss Roseteden was asleep, so he just bedded and soon afterwards he was snoring.

At the next day, Fermentum awakes and after a shower, went to take his breakfast. While at it, Miss Roseteden appears, and smiling she said: "Why don't you invite me last night?"

—Why, darling? My friends are noisy and bad spoken; not proper to be in that company. — → for a lady like you

She laughed and shows the pianist ticket, saying: "You liar! You went all by yourself to hear a man playing piano!"

Fermentum saw a good occasion to show himself as a good boy and said: "Oh, you catch me lying!"

—Yes! And I tell you: I also like piano music! Next time you must be not so shy, and tell me you are afficionated to music!

And how it was the pianist performance?" — She asked, pouring some milk on her cup.

—"A good one! It was a nice performance.—Fermentum said, eating some fried eggs."

That day was a nice one, with Miss Roseteden not feeling Fermentum wasn't interested in another woman."

Fermentum talks with Mr. Laringat the treasurer, saying: "As I understand, now we have debts for a mount of 35 million sopes, while in cash are just 20 " sopes. Am I right?"

—Certainly, Sir. Incomes don't solving the problem. You did some economies but debts are eating the most of our revenues."—Mr. Laringat treasurer, said.

—I see. Our future does not depend on animals anymore." guess the solution is to sell the Zoo before debts become more than the selling price."—Fermentum said.

—Yes. I dare say it, is obligatory. There's another option."—Laringat said.

—Another option?

—To find a partner."

000137

—Well, anyone looking at ciphers will find out this is a bad investment.—Fermentum said
—Then, Miss Roseteden must choose.—Treasurer Laringat said.
—I'm unable to blow her dreams! She could collapse and ends in a Hospital—again.—Permentum said——Well,,, the big wave will hit and you must be prepared. If you love her, make the better of this situation.—Treasurer Laringat said!

Fermentum look on his own resources: 80 million sopes. His life was—economically speaking—at safe. She, by the contrary, have the next situation:

Cash = ₱ 20 million sopes
Debts = ₱ 35 " "
Result = -₱ 15 " "

One Zoo was worth 48 million sopes, but in an auction, no more than 30 millions could be obtained.
Fermentum gives Miss Roseteden a tea with a mild soporific, and told her of the financial situation. Contrariwise to his expectations said: "Well, I suppose something like this was coming."

– Really? Rod, Well, I did all I could think of not to go bankrupt." – He said, nervously, because his 80 millions were extracted from the Zoo revenue by way of huge wages.
– Yes, I know. But as your wife I could go on living ... without the Zoo." She said, yawning (because of the drug).
– Marry? We never thought of that." Fermentum said, in panic. He likes her but not to go in chains to bed.
– Well, I suppose we could live together without getting marry?" She almost begged.
– Of course, darling. Let me sell the Zoo, and we'll buy a nice house where to live." Fermentum said, relaxed now everything was looking easy for him.

A year later, and seeing nobody bold enough wants to pay a fair price for the Zoo, Fermentus takes every animal back to the jungle: then he sold the vacant lot after selling artifacts and others at several auctions 'on the spot'.

The items went as follows:
Debt: 42 millions
Cash: 25 millions
− 17 Debts.
12 Vacant lot
− 5.−
1.2 − ~~[illegible]~~ machines SOLD and others.
− 3,8

He paid the 3.800.000 from his own pocket.

– I'm grateful of you, dear. You pay the debts. Sorry that now I'm like a beggar. Not a sopes in my ~~pocket~~ [Purse]." Miss Rosetedén said.

– Don't worry. I have enough for us two." – Fermentum said.

– But I want to have my own money! Guess I'll have to work somewhere, for my own expenses" – She murmured...

Fermentum makes a deposit at her Bank account of 3 million sopes, so now he have only 73 million sopes at his Bank Account. Then he bought a cottage in 45 million sopes, so his Bank Account shows only 28 at his possesion Fermentum lives another 8 months with Miss Rosteden, but the train of expenses were eating his money at a faster rate than expected.

—Darling: now we have just 22 millions in the Bank."

—I told you not to replace all the tiles of our home, also that swimming pool of yours! Very expensive." Miss Rosteden mentioned meekly. —

—Don't worry. I'll work!"

—Oh! And in what occupation?" Miss Rosteden said.

—Hunting. I'll provide meat to the butcher's shops in town." Fermentum replied.

—Oh! Back to the jungle?" She asked, worrying.

—Don't be afraid! I have been there and back! And I'll keep on doing, if the good luck sticks to me!" Fermentum said.

She lowered her gaze and said: "I am sure you'll come back one, two, many times, but if in one of your trips you don't come back;"

S.   000141

– If I don't come back? Don't you worry, darling! I made my will, there will be no problems for you to inherit my money!" – Fermentum said.

– You are overly generous with me!" She said, clinging with both arms from his neck. Fermentum smiled: his money comes from her own Zoo... at least the 3/4 of it...

He calls on his former assistants and said: "Now I'll be a butcher! I will carry meat from the animals of the forest, and I want you to come with me!"

– Oh, boss! I'm dreaming? I always expected to hear that phrase from you!" – Zycot said, adding: "When at the jungle I feel very much alive! Here in this city where all is easy to get, I feel out of my site in the World!"

– Same with me." – Mobelus said.

– Good, then! I should buy a vehicle to go there... but a [illegible] helicopter it's expensive and we cannot depend on a person to go there for us 30 days after our arrival!"

000142

Fermentus said.
– Perhaps you should buy one of those Aerogyro! Those could land in a very few meters and there are some used ones costing a lot less than a helicopter!" – Tycot said.
– I'll see about that. But for now, here you have 30.000 sopes for each of you: be at the Zoo in 2 more days, with your backpacks and rifles." Fermentum said.
– I sold my gear, boss. You'll be having to lend me a rifle." – Mobetus said.
– Of course. I have plenty of weapons and ammunition." Fermentum said.
He went, in that afternoon, where aerogyros were for sell. For his astonishment, they were costing just 350.000 sopes each.
– But I have no skills with one of these!" – Fermentum said to the vendor, who was a stout man clad in blue garments.

beast again...
-He was here! all our provisions are gone!"- Zycot yelled and yes: the mess was evident, with everything stomped on or thrown 20 meters away. The imprints were numerous and of the same scavenger.
-Damn brute!"- Mobelus said, handling a twisted rifle.
-this is real bad. But let's salvage what we can!"- Fermentum said, and soon they were looking at the scant provisions left - mainly canned food.
-Here we have a torchlight! Well, let's pack this and on our way back to that strange thing!"- Fermentum said, half angered.

They arrive at the Sphere, and begin to clean the entrance of weeds and fungus until it was possible to enter with the torch light. The entrance was thought to be in a parallel position in respect to the ground, so they walked by the walls with some difficulty not to fall down the corridor.

At 21.00 hours they end the exploration and try to shut the entrance, but it was not possibly due to the fact it moves through electricity.

–Let's make a door! There's enough brambles outside." Fermentum said, and soon they have it located over the entrance and fastened with lianas.

They eat from the cans and Tycot said:

–We have a spaceship in here, boss. I have read about this kind of aerial vehicles."

–But its older than a dozen turtles!" Mobelus said.

–Could be. It's something we must discover. Somewhere there is a control cabin." Fermentum said.

–and fuel? Could it be that the tank is depleted." Mobelus said.

–There are ships moving with electric fluid. Don't ask me how they did it!" Fermentum replied to that.

–Radioactivity works in many ships." Mobelus said.

–But they get plasma from the fusion of matter and anti matter! Of course, it's needed some extra energy and there must enter other kinds of fuels!" — Fermentum said and in that precise moment they heard a big growl outside the Sphere so they don't talk anymore that night.

In the morning, they step outside the Sphere and find other kind of imprints, Cycot said: "This was not a Baryonix! It looks smaller."

—But biped. And that means a carnivore." — Fermentum commented drily: he was hungry and there were no more food...

They hunt and search for fruits; all day long they were chasing and searching, so at night they roasted several pieces of meat and eats them with some sour fruits, a thing that don't abounds there.

—Now that we solve the problem of how to eat, tomorrow I'll be at the Sphere trying to understand its mechanism: but you will go hunting. There's no need we all goes inside the Sphere." — Fermentenium said, and there were no objections.

The Orb.

The Sphere, now free of debris, looked as upside down, so Fermentas moves it using tree logs and cords, with the help of his team. When almost in a upright position, he said: "Now it's better! There is no danger to fall and brokes the neck in the process..."

And sent them to do what they do best: setting traps around!

Inside the Sphere, Fermentas rummaged at the control cabin; he dusted here and there, coughed, and reads the indications next to levers and indicators. There were many old fashioned square buttons in consoles.

But all was in the dark, and he using the flashlight as faint as it could be of use, as once the battery was gone, there was no replace.

From there and convinced that no button works at the control cabin, he descended to the third level, where there were machines and many coils.

Touching here and there, he found a button that gives light to everything at the place (Engine Room) and certain noises, clicks and zooming sounds abruptly become resounding all around.

The Sphere moves.

Whistling a fine tune, Fermentum runs to the Control Cabin, finding lights enough to illuminate a dozen Christmas trees.

Now he seats at what appears the captain's seat, and looked at the console to his right. It have a bar, so he could move it and ends up being at his front.

He move dials and buttons until he felt the machine was moving; but he cannot see to the exterior - no visor or monitor in sight. He suffers a moment of panic and returns dials to where they were before. The ship seems to land softly.

He walks out the door and he realize the Sphere was seating 30 meters away than it was before. A trail of bushes bent both ways shows him that the object really fly.

When his team returns, bringing 2 dead bodies ready to roast.

- Wow! Seems the Canyonie returns!" Mobelus said, signalling to the Sphere.

- No! I make it fly!" Fermentum said.

They were happy because they were thinking that now they could fly back to the city.

That night they slept inside the ship and the gate was able to be closed — through the use of electricity. The air was flowing filtered and it was fresh and without smell.

Four days later, they were able to man the new (for them) vehicle and they fly back to the city of where they landed on a desert spot, 3 km. from the first street in town.

— I will remain here. You just go to the city, enjoy the day, but return here with food, water, and good news!— Ferdentum said, that was really enchanted with the aerial vehicle.

While they were away, he fumbled with the computers, reading about the former Spheronauts, people who weren't from planet 38309-3 Wiral, but from very far away. The name Fentargo kept repeated in those logs.

Also, he learnt some more on the amazing capacities of the Sphere.

As he supposed, the men didn't return that night. ~~A farm~~ A farmer appears banging onto the Sphere at 21.00 hours; Fermentum left the Sphere at a trot and said: "What are you doing, man? Do you want to destroy my Sphere?"

-Sphere or what do you want to call this object, you are in my property! So beat it now!" -The angry peasant said.

- Your property? Are you mad? Where are the wire fences, or where are your ti-tles?"

-I have no titles but this land is mine and you better leave it or I'll crack your egg by the middle!" -The peasant said.

Fermentum, who was not in a good mood, shoot at the guy with his ~~sp~~ Syringe-thrower. The man falls to the ground as a stone and lie there until the morning; he awakes and seeing his legs and arms cram-ped by the morning dew, he returns to his cabin, mumbling words not to be reproduced here...

with arrows - when hurt, the men captured them, cured them in cages. They recover fast - the many - but also some of them die - then they were roasted and eaten.

When they arrive at Shuloco city; the animals soon were sold at a good price; Fermentum djvided that money in two portions: one for him and the other to that small one; from his part of the money, Fermentum bought food and the rest he sent - through a Bank - to Miss Roseteden ~~passive~~: he was feeling guilty, because she abandoned his too husband for him, and now he was fleeing - When receiving the money, Miss Roseteden said at the Bank: "My husband is a brave man and he is sending me money because soon he will be with me"

And she honestly believe in that.

— a butcher shop here and there is a good way to earn money. But with the machine we'll go as far as nobody has been before." — Fermentum said.
— How far?
— all the hunters only works a thousand kilometers from Shulloco at the most. But we could reach the outer limits of this Continent."
— The fuel could get exhausted." — Eycot said.
— We'll look on it when flying far! Uptentil now, we haven't reach any long distance flight." — Fermentum said, and that very day he returns to Miss Rosetedeu, saying:
— "I have a plan."
— Well, the best plan was to come here and see me." — she replied, clinging to him.
Fermentum lives 20 days with her at the apartment, and also enlarges a shop to sell meat - not a new idea, but the way to obtain the meat was (for him) amazing.
— Right! I'll be going now, my darling. Take care of the shops." — He said to Miss Rosetesden.

With his 2 assistants and four new hired persons, he manoeuvred the old machine and went straight to the other side of the continent, reaching his goal 6 hours later.

As the four new members were women, the naked torsos and the lack of too hygiene, ends; now they all look to clean, the lasth perfectly white, and change of clothes each 2 days.

They passed a night on a platform covered with snow. The air was chilly but give a sense of pristipess difficult to explain; the Women now have sparkling eyes and graile move ments.

Fermentum talks with the men in private and said: Remember that this female are independent workers; if someone have any ideas of romance..."

—We certainly did!" — Tygat said.

—Well, you must wait until desire come to them naturally. Women naturally are not interested in sex with totally stranger men. But you must be known by them not to be walking around or staring at them as bugs! You must talk, talk, talk to them, and trying them to talk to you. Search what are their prime interest in life, what makes them tick, and hammer on the subject. When finally got them talking endlessly on a subject, please do not interrupt them in any way! After After much talk on their part, a sexual reaction flooded on them and wants to reward you! Then they become receptive to caresses! So, you must have lots of patience: remember that after much toil and effort, heavens will open to you!" Fermentum said.

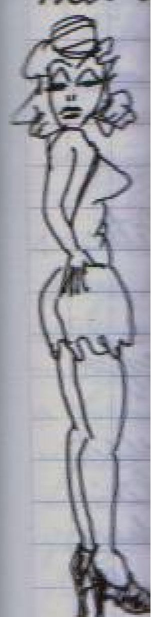
In those efforts Fermentum was also involved, talking to the girls but also, listening to their chatter...

With 2 more stops on mountain heights they finally arrives to the West Coast.

– What a beautiful sight! Blue sky, lazy clouds and white beaches! – Cyid said.

– Wonderful. – Fermentum said.



West coast.

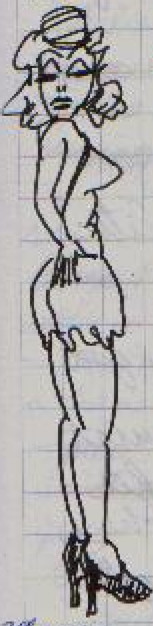
After landing and secure the environs by just watching that the jungle was 2 kilometers away, and the beach, that runs so straight in that section, was deserted of any animal except lots of birds, mostly small and apparently incapable of to make them any harm, they bathed and take sun (*) baths on that warm sand.



Honey Burglone

- Your name is sweet." - Fermentum said.
- Honey! My father calls me that... but every men are delighted to call me that. I wonder why." - Honey Burglone said, stretching her long legs over the sand.
- And how do you like the work at the Sphere?
- Hardly a work! just to stare at indicators, and if something moves to the red line, I just adjust it with a knob!" - She smiled: she have perfect teeth."
- Good that you learned very fast. - Fermentum said. She looked a seagull for some time and said:

000164

—You are a married man. I wonder how your wife permits you to be absent of home for many days in a row?"
—She is very patient and comprehensive towards me."
—I saw her buying at the Groceries shop sometimes. She likes to wear pink dresses." — Honey commented.
—Oh, yes she does! I see you are very observative, Honey."
—Yes I am. I like to analyse people and classify them properly.
—So you already analized me?
—Of course.
—And how do I look after your analitic studio?
—Fine. Just fine."
—And I cannot tell you I have analyzed your personality..."
—Why not? It's very easy: you must look in the way a person choose his clothes, how new or worn are they, and if it looks clean or dirty."
—Honey said.
—So clothes show our inner self?"

Fermentum asked.

– In a way. Then, if the person shaves, if he is a man, or if a woman, if she combs her hair or not."

– guess every woman combs her hair!" – Fermentum said.

– Well, to just pass the comb over the hair is not enough." – She said, passing a hand over her own hair.

A figure appears in the sea, splashing the water and frightening some birds, that begin the alarm. Tycot approaches the couple, saying: "It's a big creature, boss!"

Fermentum stands and looks at the sea creature with more accuracy; it have a large head, a snout where many teeth were to be seen.

– An Elasmosaur!" – Honey said, putting a hand over her mouth...

– Guess we are out of danger here." – Fermentum said. Mobelus gets closer to them, saying: "let's get out of here, boss! Those monsters could crawl out of the water!"

And so, they retreat to the Sphere in haste.

 Misses Honey Burglone, Opena Xu, Diala Ferrok.

Inside, they observe the beach but the women onboard (Miss Honey Burglone, Opena Xu, and Bridgette Monste) went to their cabins. The men saw how the Mosasaur appears at the beach, resting its body half on the sand, and lying there under the sun (in this case is star HD38309) immovil as a log.
-Clever monster! lying there as dead! Hope no animal approaches!- Fermentum said.
Half an hour later, a Scipionyx approaches and suddenly was attacked by the Mosasaur, that swallows it in a second.
-What an horrible beast!"- Tycot exclaimed, but then he remembers himself eating a clam with no remorse...

Night come and they have dinner at a table on the restroom, that have a circular window to look outside, with a diameter of 2 meters, that, in flight or at will, could be protected by a sheet of metal that also makes it water proof. From there the scant visible exterior could be seen.
-This ship is really fantastic. Do you build it, Mr Fermentum?"- Honey asked, who was now loosing her scare from her boss.

– Well, not me, actually, but my grandfather, who was a real inventor. Not that he invents this machine; he only repaired and improved it. My only work here was to dust it off, and some minor repairs. It's a remarkable ship, that, if what my grandad told me its truth, it could fly out of this planet."

– and could it be that falls down?" Opena Xu asked.

– No, as it is supported by a gravitational field that have the ability of to make a individual gravity core – independent from our planet ur inner core of gravitation force. As you know, the gravity pull of an object depends on its size. For a big planet, the gravity its tountalizing, but for an object as small as this Orb, its minimal. What does the increase of gravity its energy flowing through pannels, spinning at great velocity. That is what moves the sphere while in function. In reality, it only shift its center of gravity." Fermentus explains, and it was so because he has been reading a lot on the computer logs...

After his speech, that have the effect of a cold shower over them all, the dinner time ends mals they could feed, so Fermentum said:

— We need a refrigerator big enough, boss! Meat decompose very rapidly." - Eycot said.
- A refrigeration chamber big enough to contain a thousand tiles of meat." - Mobelus said.
— Oh, so much blood will make me sick!" - Miss Diala Ferron complained in advance...

Fermentum considered the matter for a while, & said: "I'll be going to the city and I'll buy a freezer. The girls goes with me."
— But, sir! Don't take them away!" - Eycot said, who was very interested o in one of them: Miss Diala Ferron.
- Don't be possesive! They cannot stand the sight of blood and the yellings of death." - Fermentum replied, and 2 hours later the sphere was already flying towards the city of Fornin, with the ladies manning certain commands.

When at the airport, Fermentum said to them: "Now I'll pay you your wages. To the ones who needs more money I tell you: return here in 3 more days for a return to the camp! No need of you to see the butchery! Because I'll buy now a nice freezer, and I'll get back there where the boys are."

000172 Ripok, butcher.

Dida Ferron makes a gesture and said: "Sorry, but I will not go back there!"
— Of course, it's your decision to make. Well, girls, thanks for your help and here is the money, and remember I'll give you something extra if you help me go back to the jungle with that freezer." — Fermentum said, and went home, where Miss Roseteden was happy to see him.

At the second day in town, Fermentum bought 3 medium sized freezers and hired 5 builders to help his men on the job. One of them said:
— "Dinosaurs have coarse hides, boss! You can sell hides as well as flesh."
— And you know how to work in that? — Fermentum asked.
— Yes, sir, as my name is Ripolo."
— Very well, I'll pay you double for your work" Fermentum said.

At the third day he said goodbye to Miss Roseteden and went to the jungle, at low speed as the young women assistants did not come back. It was a non stop trip, and when at the camp he said to Expot: "Tell those men what to do. I'll be sleeping."
— And what happens with the girls, boss?" — Excot asked, very dissapointed.

-They did not come back.- Fermentum said, yawning.
In 2 days he did 2 trips to Forwin city with tons of meat; Miss Roseteden begin working at the shop, aided by four attendants; as the meat was fresh, it was sold easily; Fermentum ends bringing meat and hides 15 days later.
-Hope you don't fire us!- Cyrot said, when at the Butcher's shop.
-Of course not! You have work to do here, helping on the sells.- Fermentum said, and I used them as guards, drivers and even as bodyguards from then on.
Miss Roseteden begin buying meat from farm owners, that uses some kind of dinosaurs as they were cattle.
-You don't need to travel anymore, dear. I buy cheap, and sell with a little gain, at our shop.- She said to Fermentum, who accepts it, tired of traveling and risking his life.
But destiny is another thing than humans plans, and then a twist appears 2 weeks after his settling him as a butcher in

Miss Bauer

Miss Bauer, who have gone from the life of Fermentum apparently for ever, returns one afternoon, when Fermentum was walking by the street, in one of his visits to a nearby bar.
—Hi, Fermentum. Do you remember me?!— She asked.
Fermentum saw this wonderful woman, well dressed and with a nice air-do, and looking at her eyes he drown in remenberings - like a big sea wave.
—Oh, is you? Nice to see you, Miss Bauer!" —He said, nonconitantly - he was living with Miss Roseteden and wanted no problems...
—You look well. How is Miss Roseteden? I heard you both have a Butcher Shop, somewhere."— Miss Bauer said, with a singsong voice.
Not willing to be seen by someone who knows him and with an attractive woman, he invited her to hot bar, and in a independent quarter he ask for his beer and she only accepts a beverage

– Well, tell me about your life. What have you been doing?" – he asked, to break the ice.

She thought a little, perhaps thinking what right Fermentum have to be inquiring about her personal affairs, and ends saying: "Oh, a little work here and there! Just enough to get along... and you?"

– Hunting and providing meat for our butcher's shop. Nothing new, I'm afraid." – He said, smiling. She stared a little on her face... perhaps knowing he exists hunting.

– Oh, yes. The fascination of the jungle. Sometimes I have dreams being there." – Miss Bauer said, and a sad expression crossed her face.

After three minutes of silence, Fermentum said:

– "It's a pity you just dissapear."

She looks into her glass, saying: "It was the right decision at the time."
— I missed you."
— and you keep on with Miss Rosetoden, right?"
— As you say, I keep on with her. The women was needing me. Remember she left her husband just because of me."

She passed a finger over the rim of her glass, saying: "I was enamored, too."
— Sorry to hear that. Seems I hasten to get into trouble."
— and hurting people.
— That, too. And I am repented. If you want..."
— We begin again?"
— Well, it's a blunt way to say it. But yes."
— And Miss Rosetoden?
— People die. I can go unnoticed and guess she will end accepting I went missing. Somehow."
— Fermentum said, realizing he was more and more interested on Miss Bower by the minute. She smiled, sighed and said: "Easy to say, hard to do. I am also engaged in something. It will be a pity to just leave."

—another man in your life?"
—and what do yo expect of me? But no, there's not a man but a project." Miss Bower said.
—Tell me about it."
She drummed on the table for some time and said: "Not with words. I'll show you." And stands up from the table.
—right now?"—He was amazed.
—Better now than in the future..." She said, and Fernandum pay for the drinks and follow her to the street, where she hailed a taxi.
— Pity I have no car to drive you there. My incomes aren't as good for that." She commented.
—Have no worries. A taxi cab is fine." He said, seating at her side and admiring (in passing) her long white legs...
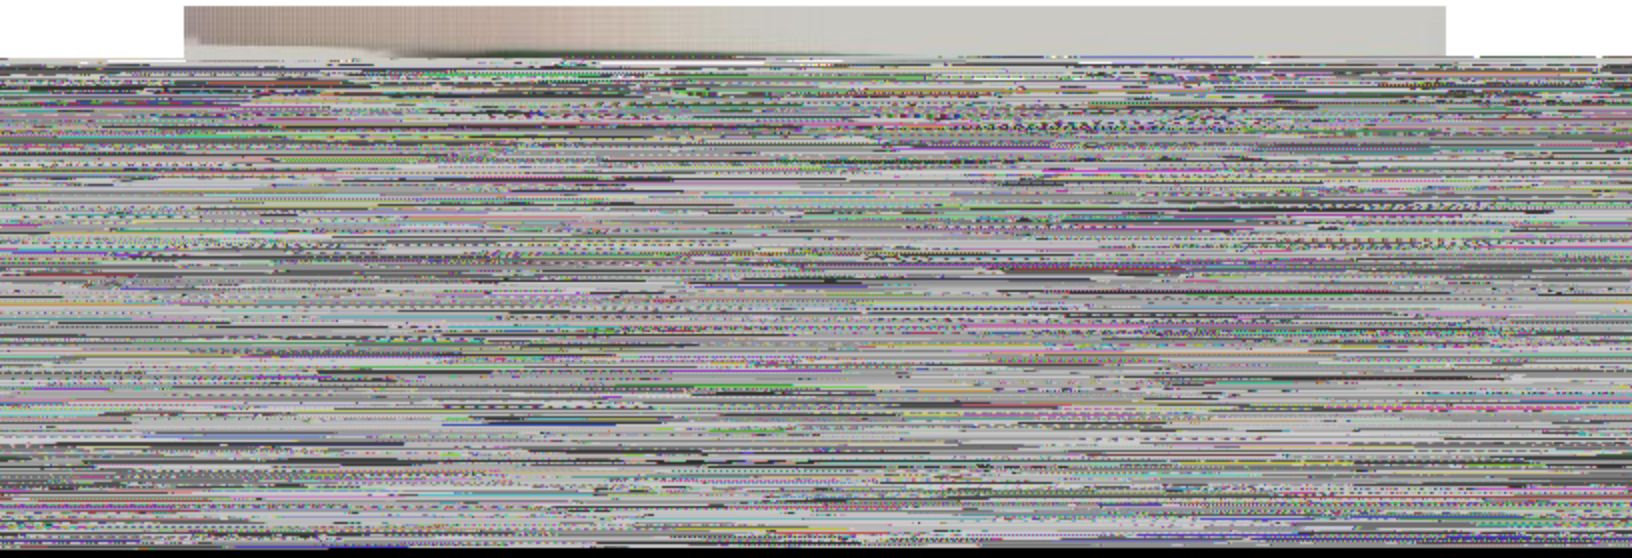
—And do you still have your aerial vehicle?" She said, blushing - because she have noticed his interest on her...

— Yes, it's in working order, but my crew is working at the shop, now." Fermentum said, and she smiled, confirming what they have told her: that now Fermentum has ended with flies to the jungle...

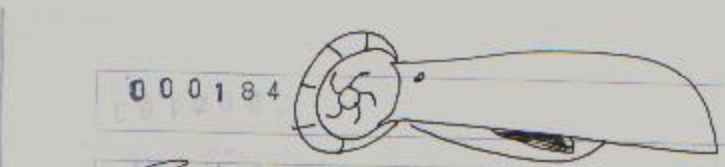
She taxi stopped in front of a very common 5 stories building, and she paid the driver, saying to Fermentum: "My flat! Here is where I also work."



-My invention... well, mine and others, were sold to the military yesterday!" She announced.
-Oh, really? I congratulate you! Must have been in a considerable amount?" Fermentum said, imagining the score of people the military will send to the future... volunteers or delinquents, who knows?
-Yes. 710 million sopes! In all. I am one of five scientifices receiving the sum!" She said defiantly.
-So you are now a millionaire! And what are you going to do with it? A bigger laboratory?" Fermentum asked her... not really interested, but for the need to be polite...
-Yes, that too... but I was thinking in you and me, alone in a trip by the sea."
-Well, I am working at the Butcher shop, you know..." Fermentum said, not really believing his own ears.
-Don't worry! Expenses will run on my behalf! I have thinking... in a trip from here to Shuloco. Only a few days together! Well, I'm almost ashamed of myself indulging in an offer like this... The last time I kissed you..."
-That we kissed each other!" Fermentum said, in order to help her in this offer...

Juder

000184



Fermentum was now thinking in Miss Rosetden... he could not give a plausible explanation to her... what to do? And he envisioned Miss Bauer like a real Volcano of passion...

- I accept."

- and your fiancée? As you said to me once, you don't want her to suffer because of you?" Miss Bauer said, staring at him.

- Well, I'll find the way. But are you sure? Once in the past you quit without notice." - Fermentum said.-

- Not this time, Fermentum." - And she puts her white hand over his arm.

- Well... when do you think your trip will begin?" - he asked. She smiled and said: "I was uncertain of your answer, but now you are willing to accompany me... I'll buy the tickets." - Miss Bauer said.

- But I'll pay my ticket. No need to waste your money in me." - Fermentum said.

- No, no! I'm full of money, and I invited you! So please, do as I said." - She said, taking his hand.

- Allright. Let's contact us by phone... the easiest way." He said.

- Here! It's my phone number... but of course, let us see us again tomorrow, same hour, to give you the ticket."- She announced, and that was final.

Fermentum leaves the Bar after her, and went to work. A trip without a reason will certainly damage to his relation with Miss Roseteden...

He might be pute some clothes into a suitcase for that trip, and said to her: "I must make a trip to Shuloe city soon. They told me it will be a good idea to open a Butcher shop in there."

She smiled and said: "But dear! We are buying meat for our shop! and to have a shop in Shuloe... how are we going to compete with the locals?"-

-Yes, I have solved that point. for the first 3 or 4 months, I'll bring meat directly from the jungle: you know I can do it." - Fermentum said

-But... you said you were tired of it! And its dangerous." - She was now looking worried...

-let's talk of this later, darling? It's an obtuse project, anyway."- Fermentum said, as for now it was Enough: the idea was already planted.

At the next day he talk his aids about the project. Tycot was ready to go along, but Mobelus said: "Don't count on me, boss! I'm happy attending clients and doing deliveries! And my woman waiting for me after working hours... I would be missing this burgoise way of living."

— No problem! I'll hire people, again." Fermentum said, thinking in new personnel, that will be teach on the intricacies of fly the Orb...

At noon he was already at the Bar; Miss Bauer didn't appear, so he calls her at fourteen hours.

— Yes?

— It's me, Fermentum. How are you?" — He said, to begin the conversation.

— Fine! And you? Are you at work?" — Miss Bauer asked.

— Yes, but I'm alone. How are things going?" Fermentum asked, not mentioning that she flunked the date.

That day he was too busy to call, so he just forget the matter: in a week, all haste would be delited ... and also the willings.

At the next day he arrives to the Bar, ask for his beer, and saw Miss Bauer coming inside the joint. She leaned on him, kissing his cheek and saying: "Hi, Fermentum! Been here for a long time?"
– No, I recently come ... arrived." He replied. She seats in front of him – and across the table – and the bartender brought her a lemonade and a beer for his customer...
– Well, I already bought the tickets, but I leave them at my place... no need to give it to you and make a problem..." Miss Bauer commented.
– Right. Well, we must wait! And, in what kind of project are you working now?" He asked.
– Time and space. There is a colleague that is sure we could travel through time." She replied, sipping from his glass of lemonade

— A time machine? They said nobody could do that."
— Yes, like they said nobody could fly." She smiled gently.
— Good luck with that." He said, drinking some beer. A dame enters the Bar, and to his surprise, was Miss Roseteden, and she was looking angry.
— What are you doing here?" She asks from Miss Bauer.
— First, say hello. And secondly, I stumbled on Fermentum here! And knowing him I salute and now we are talking. Some problems with that, lady?" Miss Bauer said, very calmly.
— I have informants, you know! And with this man you have been reuniting, seeing here very often... and you, Fermentum, do you pretend to make me fool?" She said, angered.
— It's a coincidence, only." He replied, very embarrassed.
— Yes, coincidence! Please don't appear at our house! I detest you!" — Miss Roseteden said, and left the place.

The waiter brought another beer and a shot of whisky to Miss Bauer, saying: "These runs by the house... to forget their bad manners!"
—Thanks." She replied, sighing.
—I'm sorry. I didn't know I was being followed." He said, taking one of her hands.
—I don't mind at all for the interruption... really she will close the door on you?" She asked, really preoccupied. He moves his head, saying: "And I will not be appearing there at any cost. Guess I'll rent a room... somewhere."
— Forget it! I offer you my place! Plenty of space there, if I only move a table or two." Miss Bauer said.
—Don't feel guilty! I can manage myself." He smiled, but in his inner self there were a turmoil of loser thoughts.
—I will not let you down! Don't return to her butcher shop today! Accompany me to my place. I'll show you diagrams of my present project!" She said and so, Fermentum follows her obediently under the fatherly eyes of the bartender...

At her place, she shows him documents of her new project and said: "The idea is that a collission between one Brane and the other produces such a shock wave that opens a sort of drill that while advances creates time. Then, if we could match the energy of the drill and surpases it, we could begin to walk - or travel - backwards in time. We can return to the pass." - Miss Bauer said.

- and what about the future?" Fermentum asked.
- It's not created yet. The drill - so to speak - is still drilling. But we can have access to what is already drilled." - Miss Bauer said, with shiny eyes because she was in her field of interest = Sciences.
- You look pretty." - He said, not adding "How you are at your field of expertise!" She mused on that phrase and said.
- Perhaps it's because I recovered you." - And so, they kissed each other and ends up in bed.
"I love you so much!" - She said,

-I'll search a crew at Hunting Clubs around." Fermentum said.
— Yes. Possibly I could add some more." — Tycot said, enthusiastically — Do it. Met me at the Sphere, tomorrow at nine."
— Yes, sir! I'll be there, backpack and all." — Tycot said, ending the conversation. He turns around and said: "Betty, my boss calls me to work."
— Oh, Mr. Fermentum? They said he's a generous man." Betty said, poolishing her nails.
— Yes he is. Well! Guess I'll be hiring a couple of pilots for this trip."
— I could be the cook. Or the maid?" — Betty asked, blinking one eye. Tycot rubbed his chin and said: "He's going with some broad... told me no girls in this trip."
— Why? Is her girlfriend too jealous?" — Betty asked
— I guess she is.
— Well, I'll dress like a man. Perhaps I'll add a moustache to my looks!" — Betty said, laughing.

At the next day, Fermentum finds Tycot waiting at the side of the Sphere.

-Goodday, boss! How are you today?"-Tycot asked.

-Fine. Well! Let's take a look at the inside! Several days I haven't been here."

-Or weeks."-Tycot replied.

Seems like"-Fermentum said, opening the hatch; inside there were a smell of onions... Soon they discovered decomposed meat and vegetables at the kitchen.

-Let's throw all this garbage out of the ship! Well,,, bad memory must I have, to have been forgetting these matters."-Fermentum said and they piled the garbage 5 meters away from the Sphere...

-Well, somebody will dump this were it must!"-Tycot said, laughing.

They used the day cleaning the whole ship-They ended not after 21 hours.

-Well, keep on searching for a crew. I'm tired."-Fermentum said.

– Yes, boss. This spaceship is huge: it could carry lots of people."

– Yes, lots. Perhaps I'll find hunters yielding to earn double pay. Good night." – Fermen tum said, closing the hatch and walking towards Miss Bauer's apartment.

When there, he rings the bell several times but goobody opens the door. He waits 15 minutes more, rings... and realizes she must be somewhere else...

At the nearest hotel he rents a room, and after a shower, he went to bed fully dressed – no pajamas for the night...

At 2001 08.20 hours he gets out enraged with himself... "believing in women once again" was his motto...

At hunter's clubs he find lots of amateurs and little real hunters... at the end of that day, he have 3 real hunters ready to be on his team – and they weren't cheap: a million and a half lopes each of them were the cost.

"I'll depart in 3 more days. I have my aerial vehicle at a secure spot. You just went to the "Dine Hotel" at 9.00 o'clock, and we'll start from there."

The hunters were Mattel Figur, Donten Fillbiler and Heatten Bigor, the famous among them all... only in his sixties, so he have more experience but less stamina...

At the next day, Fermentum meets Tycot at the Orb, and said: "Bad luck! I have only 3 hunters and no crew!"

— Don't you worry, sir! I found several young students feeded up with High School! They are coming for lunch and a bed to sleep at night. They will work for peanuts." — Tycot explained under the sceptic stare of Fermentum, who said: "But, are they going to serves us?"

— Yes, boss! I'll teach them what's needed! Give me one day with them in here and I'm sure they will know what to do." — Tycot said.

— I'll go along with your optimism, Tycot! Hope we'll end this trip with some earnings!" — Fermentum commented.

— Of course we will, boss!" — Tycot said, laughing to scatter away the evil spirits. —

That night he went to see Miss Bauer, and found her in a gown.
— Oh, it's you, Fermentum! Where have you been? I was so worried about you!" She said, opening the door.
— I come here and you weren't! So I'm renting an hotel room ever since." Fermentum said.
— For ever since, dear? Just a couple of days, only! Sorry. I was working at Mr. Thonfor's laboratory! Bigger, much bigger than in here! So, ~~sorry~~ forgive me, but my work sometimes drives me a little crazy." — She said, embracing him, who noticed that she have nothing on except that silky gown" and all his hate for her dissapears...
At the next day, she already knows of his trip and, having said yes previously, she left a letter for Mr. Thonfor about her new occupation, begging him to keep on by himself until her return.
— And when are we coming back, love?"

21/Set The trip begins with 3 hunters 17 assistants and 2 guests. This bunch of neophits on board. The hunters asked for cabins, and Fermentum show them 3 cabins near the hatch; for him and Miss Bayer he takes the bigger one – that of the Captain's ...

– In here we have all the luxuries of modern life! Fresh air, a nice bed, television, radio, music, sorry I forget to buy perfumes." Fermentum said to the woman ...

– I'm so excited to be in one of your trips ... again." She said, remembering their first expedition.

– Guess I love you." Fermentum said, caressing her. A knock on the door startled both of them and Fermentum said: "Yes, what it is?"

– Excuse boss. Give me authorization to train the guys! They know only the theoric side of the matter." – Excuse said.

Fermentum opens the door saying:

– "We aren't ready yet. I'm sorry but you and your team will go out burying more food. We are too many mouths in here."

– Okie dokie, boss! Well... I'll teach where the indicators and machinary is." – Tycot said.
– You do that but don't move the craft yet." – Fermentum recommended.
– Boss, why don't you give me some money right away, to buy things early in the morning?" – Tycot suggested.
– Are you implying I'm a late guy for work?" – Fermentum said.
– Oh, no! But as you have some company... perhaps you'll detest to go out of bed early." – Tycot said, blinking one eye.
– Right. Wait here." – Fermentum said, and while he was searching for some money, one assistant approaches Tycot, saying "Are you going to bed now or not dear?"

000204 Betty & Tycot on board.

– Shut up, the boss believes there are no women on board!" – Tycot replied, shooing Betty from there, who was using an overall in green color and a beret.

– Here I spent in groceries, but also in non perishable food: beans, rice, plenty of rice, salt, sugar, coffee, tea, oil... you know, that kind of stuff." – Fermentum said. Miss Bower appear after Fermentum, saying: "If you could, buy me dry milk in cans."

– Powdered milk? Yes." – Tycot said, ogling the lady – and some Beauty cremes... the dry wea- ther ruined many skins." – Miss Bower said, going inside the room, not liking the stare of crewman Tycot...

– Well, that's it. Good night." – Fermentum said, closing the door.

– At last! That man looks at me in a queer way." – Miss Bower said, going to bed – Don't pay attention to him! It's like a hound, but I have him under a leash." – Fermentum said.

21/Set/2010 Friday.-

He went to bed and to the lo ving arms of Bawer, who sighed in relief.-

Early in the morning Tycot went to the city buying lots of groceries, food in cans, and his A assistants carrying bags. They enter a soda shop and eat an hearty breakfast.

—Nice living when you have some dug!— Tycot said.

—Let's buy girl stuff! My friends needs it as much as Miss Bawer!— Betty said, because all A assistants were nuds...

Tycot bought lots of female underwear, cremes and lotions for them all, and returns to the spaceship at 16.30 hours.

Fermentum see that the groceries and food cans were properly storaged, and then said: "It's time to depart!"

At the Sphere, Tycot and Betty were at the kitchen, preparing dinner.

– We have lots of groceries but scant fresh meat."

– I hope tomorrow the hunters could bring us meat in abundance."

– Yes. I... hear! They are already here!

– They talk loud. Not of my taste."

– But they are men of action! What do you expect? That they go around in tiptoe?" said, smiling.

– Really." Tycot said, not to contradict Betty of her phony ideas...

Half an hour later, they serve the soup and a salad with plenty of canned food & beverages.

– No wine?

– No, sir. Captain orders."

– Well, I'll be consuming my own ration!" said, producing a flask with some liquor in it. He takes a pair of gulps and said: "Ah! Nothing better than a Fililler was looking on the young assistants wondering why they look pretty if they were males...

- How old are you? - He asks of Dwigis, who was near him.

- Why? Did I asked your name?" - Dwigis replied, trying to engrose her voice.

- Well, you certainly knows how to start a brawl! And certainly I'm Fililler the hunter! And you looks like a student in vacations!"

- I finish my high grade already." - Dwigis replied, blushing.

Fililler coughed and said no more, although he was far from convinced... the features of several of those Assistants were very feminine, and he was wandering why...

Fermentum was at the other side of the table and did not hear that interchange of phrases... but Tycot did, and was enraged with Fililler... he could open the lid of lies and then Fermentum will be disgusted or mad at him...

They finish the meal and everyone went to their cabins. Betty went to Dwigis dormitory and after being received, he said: "What was that with hunter Fililler?"

— He asks my age! What did he expect? a diploma? Also he asks if I was a student in vacation!" Dwigis replied, fuming out.

— And what do you tell him?"

— That I already finish my high grade!" Dwigis said.

— That man looks at us too much. Guess he's asking things about ourselves."

— About us.

— Whatever.

— Well, it's only his problem! And what about us being women? Is it a sin?" Dwigis asked.

— It all started with Tycot lying to Fermentum, who was asking for a male crew! And the snowball is running downhill! Sooner or later he will discover the truth." – Betty said ...

Someone knocked at the door, and Dwigis opens it a bit.
– It's me, Eycot! Is Betty with you?" Eycot asked.
– Yes. Come on in." – Dwigis replied, and the man enters, closed the door and said: "I heard that twerk asking you things! I will make shifts to get lunchs and dinners! And I will isolate you from them." –

Betty moves her head saying: "I cannot see how that is going to work! The more restrictions, the more he will suspect!"

Eycot seats at the border of the bed and asked: "and what do you propose?"
– We must act natural! And we must seat at random! One day here, another day at the opposite side of the table! So Mr. Fillifer will be not able to ask the same questions over and over to the same person." Betty said.

Eycot think about it and said: "I will seat next to that guy! And believe me, I'll end with his questions with a ..."
– No, you don't! We don't want fights in here!"

Betty interrupted him
—All right. But I will ask questions to him, so he will have no opportunity to play the detective — Tycot said, and moments later, walked out to the corridor and to his cabin, where Betty sneaked in some minutes later.

At dawn, the hunters went to revise the traps; soon they were carrying 5 fullergias to the Ono.
—We must make a pen somewhere! Animals could not stand being tied to a post all day." Bigor said.
—Very well! Tycot: tell your team to build a pen for our animals! Plenty of wood around, and saws are available at the Hold." Fer-mentum said.
—All right, boss. On the double." Tycot replied, questioning if the soft hands of the women could sustain rough work... and yes, the women began cutting and nailing branches but soon many of them quits, when pin ched her hands while dislodging logs. Tycot was bathed in sweat, working as a madman, in order not to fail in his work as a taskmaster...

3 days later, the pen was ready and the Fulengia, plus several Coelophysis, were separatedly resting inside.

– Good work! I saw you working hard. Waiting for a raise?" – Fermentum said to Tycot.

– Well, when there is work to be done, I don't quit!" – Tycot replied

– We have vegetarians and carnivores close to each others! Do you saw the Coelophysis trying to gnaw at the fences?"

– Perhaps we should stick only to vegetarians! More easy to be fed."

– And what with the carnivores?" Fermentum asked.

– "To the kitchen with them!" Tycot replied. Fermentum laughed and accepted the idea: that night everyone was eating Coelophysis chops...

Fermentum was happy with the findings, happy to have several dinosaurs in stock, and sure he could sell it with a profit. The field of zoo as a show and entertainment for the people. Miss Brawa was happy because she was now willing to get back to the city of Forvin...

—Now that you have lots of animals, could we get back to town?" — Miss Brawa asked.
—Well, in theory we are ready! But also, I have no interest in come back to a city where I have no investments. As you know, all my possesions are money, the edifices and others belongs to Miss Roseteden."
—So all your possesions are here?" Miss Roseteden asked, mildly disappointed.
—Yes, the Sphere and now the animals." — Fermentum commented.
At the next day, the hunters captured a Eropheognatus - female and in state-meaning, soon to deliver calves.
—We must isolate her now - in a secluded place." — Eyrol said.
Fermentum authorized and 9 days later 6 small Eropheognatus were hatched by a very sedated mother dinosaur...
—No need to hunt! Perhaps we could breed animals in here! A farm far from the city and its laws, prohibitions and so many lakes that are the root of so many miseries!"

– Fermentum said.

With that, Miss Miss Braun was more relestless than before, and in fifteen more days she said: Fermentum, we need to talk!

They were in bed, so Fermentum have no way to escape, so he said: "Tell me, darling. I'm all ears."
– I come here thinking it was only while you hunt some animals but now I see that you want to stay and become a rancher."

—Well, you must understand I'm here for money. I invest a big portion of my economies... I must pay wages, and feed everyone. I cannot just take the two dozen animals and went back to Forwin City!" Fermentum explains.

Miss Bauer moves her head and said: "I'm a citizen girl, unable to live in a ranch, with dung smell and fiery winds! I must go."
—But... where are you going to live at Forwin City?" He gets worried as he felt himself responsible for her welfare.
—No doubt I will find a job in 2 days elapsed time! I'm no lazy woman. That, and your money." —Miss Bauer said.
—What money?
—The one you owe me! As my job here as a Veterinary! No doubt you have seen

She reddened and said: "It's because you change too much! From a hunter to a rancher!"

2 days later, Fermentum travels to Forvin City with Miss Bauer and some dessistants helping manning the ship; he landed the vehicle at the Airport, and Miss Bauer descended carrying 2 valisses and a million sopes.

—Well, I'll be seeing you."—She said, and departed, walking towards the exit.

Fermentum waits her figure dissapears into the control Tower and commercial site, and said to Tycot: "Well let's start buying now!"

And with 2 other dessistants they went to buy more groceries for the Expedition... While at it, Tycot said: "sorry! Now you are single once again!"

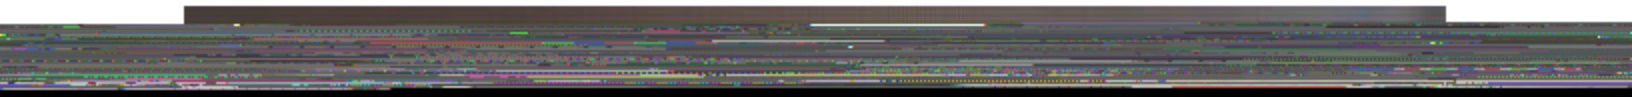
– Yes, better to end relations if the woman tries to twist your plans and in doing so, transform a man in a zombie-like creature!"
– Of course." Tycot said, blinking one eye to Betty, who was clothed like a man!!! she said, whispering. "I need to use a bath!"
– I'll tell the boss to go eating something... there you'll have the opportunity." – He said, and soon they were seated at a table, while Fermentum was asking for a whole lunch for everyone. Betty and 2 others went to the ladies's bath, much to the surprise of other women at that place. After a while, they return to the other table, but also, the administrator, who said:
– Pardon me, sirs, but what you have donned trespassed the limits!"



000221

– Your accusation is false."
– Why? Are you a woman?
– Yes. And they are also women." – Betty said, very calmly.
– This is preposterous!" – Laughed the Administrator, with a fiery face.
– We can prove it. But you must call a police woman for this case."
– I cannot do that!
– Why not?
– It's impossible to change sexes in a minute!" – The Administrator said. Fermentum said: "I'll call my lawyer if you deny them their rights! I'll see you left the Police in less than you think!" – Fermentum said, and under that threat, the Police officer did ask for a Police woman to attend the case.

While they were waiting, Fermentum asks of Eyeat: "What is happening here? A charade?"
– Sorry to say, boss, but I was in trouble finding a decent crew, and you were in such a hurry to find assistants that I recruited females – almost everyone known beforehand by Betty.

— Betty, is that youngster so attached to you, that I almost thought bad of his maleness?
— The same
— Well! Now I understand many things!" Fermentum said, sighing. —
The woman policewoman arrives 45 minutes later; she revise the Betty friends and said:
— "They are all women! Why dressed like men?"
— Because they work at a freighter and they don't want to be harassed by the other Sailors — Tycot replied.
— Is that true?" The male Policeman asked.
— Yes, I have a ship." — Fermentum said. The Policeman growled and said: "What a waste of my time in here, Sir! Next time you and your crew visits this city, you'll have to tell your female crew to dress like a woman! Let's go!" — And he and the rest of the Policemen - and the woman working ~~at~~ for the Police - went out of the Restaurant.
— Well, let's go from this joint!" — Fermentum said, and they leave the place laughing, much to the chagrin of the administrator...

Fermentum arrives to the Sphere with them and many bags with groceries, wine, beverages... he was tired and said to Tycot:
- We'll stay here for another day, see that the Sphere is secured and close the hatch."
- Yes, boss. This place is very secure." Tycot replied, happy not to have been fired from work...

At his bed, Fermentum gets asleep thinking who, on the many women he have on the ship, will be the fortunate one who will receive his attention...

That night the news spread on the ones not going to the city, and Betty said: "Wish our boss let us dress as women, now he knows what we are!"
- Yes, but you are forgetting the hunters! They will be for ever molesting us!" Dwigis said.
- Well... we are women! And we'll make them to have respect upon us!" Betty retorted...

At the next day, then Fermentum went with them to the city and bought women dresses for everyone - and then more to the ones that were waiting at the farm..

He also takes some more money from the Bank, to be protected somehow if expenses grow unexpectedly.
– You are rich, boss! I saw how many millions you have at your Bank account. – Tycot said, that was acting as his body-guard.
– Yes, it's from my time under Miss Rosetéden's Zoo... and the Butchery." – Fermentum explained.
– And have you seen her, lately." – Tycot asked.
– Not even her shadow! And I'm sorry about her."
– Do you want Me to go and spy a little on her? I'm good at it!"
– Well... yes. Perhaps she is alone and sick. So, I can be of help. I dekt her lots of good moments." – Fermentum said.
Tycot and 5 assistants went where Miss Rosetéden have her home; they talk with neighbors, attendants and also, through a small sum, with the maid.
– Oh, she's fine! She went dancing each fifth day of the week! And have cards on five different clubs." Rosalia, the maid, said to Betty, who asked: "And have many solicitors... males?"

— Not one! She abhorr way of men! She play cards on tuesday with reverenable women friends... wednesday works at the Zoo... the National one, as Councillor... well, she just cannot get bored." - Rosalia said, and earns a thousand sopes with these and other informations...

Hearing it all, Fermentum was satisfied and they returned to the farm in a very optimistical way... plus so, because Tycot made Dwigis get interested in Fermentum, that after a dance and some liquor) end up bedding with the beautiful woman...

— I always admire you, as a chief." She said.

— And I always look on you as a beautiful woman."

— And you looked at me. I notice you doing not once but several times." She giggled... he embrace her young body, sensing she was trembling like a string, like her senses were keenly present... proper to youth...

000226

When at the ranch, the hunters couldn't believe those women were the same youngster that departed to Formin City.
Bigot said: "So you were cheating on us, making us believe you were men!"
— not quite! We were hired by Mr. Tycot on orders from Mr. Fermentum, that was: hire male assistants! But as time was running short Mr. Tycot hired us women! That's the whole point!" Betty said, enraged.
— Cheaters! Perhaps the truth of the matter was: you were, all of you, afraid of real men like us!" Bigot roared and the rest of the hunters laughed.
Fermentum arrives and said: "Men, I'm as surprised as you are. My assistant Mr. Tycot brings here females disguised as men, not because of you, but because I certainly ordered him to hire young or old men to man the ship."
— Man the ship!" laughed.
— Yes, man the ship. I was cheated, but now what could I do?
— Give them husbands! — laughed again.

I'm not their masters! And now, women, I'll only ask you to keep on working as before, cooperate as before, that your job is appreciated by me." (Cheers from the females).

The hunters went out to camp, and the women begin dressing like such, among much excitement and joyful laughter. Dwigis also participated and at night She said: "Thanks for your patience with us women! You are providing us with the opportunity of to keep on with well gained nice wages! Many women are here because they want to help their families to keep up with expenses back home."

— Are you receiving my money as everyone else?

— Yes, dear. But this passed month wages have not been received yet, and 5 days have already passed. — Dwigis said — Oh! Well... Tomorrow I'll pay your wages and the wages of everyone else. I will carry half the personnel to the city of Fowin, so they could see their families and deliver them as much money as they need." — Fermentum said, receiving her in his arms.

At the next day the hunters also received their due, and Mutal Figur said to Fermentum:
- Allow us, men, to be in your flight home; we also need to see our family members and help them if necessary.

Fermentum realize that without the hunters, the recolection of animals will dwindle almost to zero.
- But... one of you could stay to set the traps in place. - Fermentum said. The face of Mutal darkened and he said: "No boss! I recommend you not to oppose to our request now. The men are feeded up with resisting the temptation now they are surrendered by cunts... pardon my word."
- Very well, hop unto the craft! I'll leave camp in one more hour. - Fermentum yielded, as he knows what could befell on the girls - and him as the authority there - if he doesn't.

The trip was donned in scant hours, and at the airfield he said to the departing group: "Listen me good: I'll be here again in 10 more days! I'll wait for you to keep on with my project!"

— Don't worry, boss! We'll be here punctually!" Hearten Bigot, and walked away with his mates, laughing and talking loud. The women, by their part, just waved their white hands and then they were gone.
— Hope I'll see them again." Fermentum said.
— You'll see them, of course! At least, the feminine side of them!" Miss Durgis said.
Fermentum twisted his head to look at her better, and asked: "What? Do you hear them saying something on the contrary?"
— Well, I heard Motul Figur swearing he was fed up with animals, dung and dangerous situations! That very well means he will not return."
Fermentum think it over and said: "That a man speaks more of the count it's not news! He'll be back." And as he said it so assuredly, Durgis just not pressed her point...
When back at the farm (that now looks deserted) Fermentum invites Tycot and Betty for a dinner in private, being

000230 Forwin City

Dwigis present as host: smashed potatoes onion and a big steak in every plate; wine and bread (cooked by the host in an oven.)

— Nice dinner, Miss Dwigis! The meat is superb!"

— Coelophysis, of course. We only eat carnivores."

— Of course. And when are we, the rest of the team, will return to Forwin city... in vacations?

— Tycot asked.

— "I already give 10 days of leave to half the team. I'll wait there 2 days, and I'll return here with them in time to take the second group to that city. And after 10 days I'll be back with them. Nobody will stay without a leave." Fermentum replied.

— Good!" Tycot said, eating of his plate. Fermentum said: "I want the names of the ones that still remains here."

— Very well boss! Pay attention: we have here 2 males and 8 women: Betty, Dwigis, Gloria, Kanarne, Lifa, Roxane, Dorotea, Lemula (~~Mamela, Rosorina, and Tigs~~ out on treaty) (for the return)...

– Fine. We'll only feed the animals and when the meat gets eaten, we'll both put traps to get more." – Fermentum said, leaning back on his seat. Tycot burped, drinks some wine, and said: "Well, enough of eating! I guess I will put 2 damsels on guard! Shifts of 4 hours each couple. Pardon me, ladies and gentleman! I have some more work to do." – And Tycot leaves the table. Betty yawned, stands up and said: "I guess I'm not in the first shift, so I'll be going to bed. Good night to you too."

– Good night." – Fermentum and Dwigis said, smiling. When alone, Dwigis said: "They are too adorable companions, don't you think?"

– Yes, darling. We also must go to bed." – Fermentum said, and they both went to their cabin."

At the next day, five women went to cut weeds to feed the animals, and Tycot went to the forest with Betty to revise the traps. They found 2 Otniellbs and one Celophysis juvenile.

– Nice catch. Help me with the ropes." – Tycot said, tying the legs of those ani-

Fermentum and Dirigis cleans the corridors and halls of the Sphere; also the railings of stairs and the stairs; they dumped out the waste bagging it of black containers; later they burn the bags in a clearing, 200 meters from the Sphere. One smoke clarced in the air and he said: "Smoke is abetted by every animal of the jungle: repearing this makes dangerous animals going away."

– Like that one who is walking there?" – She asked, and when Fermentum turns around, he gasped: a Tyrannosaurus was at 200 meters from them –

– Let's prevent a tragedy! Let's walk fast towards the Sphere!" – He said in a whisper.

Crouching, they run to the Sphere, always looking back. When at the entrance, they again looks for that beast, that was now out of sight. – Very dangerous carnivore. We must prevent the rest." – Fermentum said.

– Not a wise decision, dear! If we stumble on that beast, we'll die." – She said, so they wait there until, at noon, the Group returns to camp. Tycot was heading 2 Otniello and Betty a Coelophysis juvenile, duly tied.

– Good hunting, boss! They were in old traps in the woods! 2 more mouths to feed and a Coelophysis for our kitchen!" Tycot said.
– Good luck, indeed! But, we saw a big Tyrannosaur, not 200 meters away!" Dwigis commented. Tycot opened his eyes a bit more and said: "Really? Those animals are too big to be pill!"
– Yes. Perhaps we should move camp." Fermentum proposed.
– But, boss! We cannot build more pens everytime a carnivore lurks around!" Tycot said.
– So, what could we do if the Tyrannosaur discovers our pens and begin having a big dinner on our animals?" – Fermentum asked.
– Make fire. Our only dissuasive element at hand. I'll set a couple of bonfires so the beast will think twice before approaching!" Tycot said.

later, while lunching, Fermentum said: "Perhaps it's time to sell our stock in town."
— And forgetting your project to be a rancher?" Dourgis asked.
— Well... guess I'm inclined to keep on with my project, but we must really secure the place with more poles." Fermentum said.
